Three firms ease gas curtailments

By DIANE DUDSON

Associated Press Writer

Many Ohioans laid off work because of energy shortages returned to their jobs today as three Ohio gas companies lifted maintenance level curtailments.

Columbia Gas of Ohio, East Ohio Gas Co. and Cincinnati Gas & Electric stopped severe weather restrictions for some customers.

For Columbia's customers that means industrial and commercial customers using one million cubic feet or more of gas will go back to 85 per cent curtailments while those using at least 200,000 cubic feet of gas will go back to cutbacks of 30 per cent.

"The only firms that will really feel the difference are those at the 200,000 cubic foot level," said William Chadcock, spokesman for Columbia. "Cutbacks of 85 per cent are almost maintenance level."

Chadcock said Columbia is able to relax restrictions because its supplier,

Columbia Gas Transmission Corp., beginning today, no longer is limiting companies to serving only residential and essential needs customers. Columbia officials say the Federal Power Commission ordered Columbia Transmission to impose the restrictions.

The action by East Ohio Gas will put its industrial customers on a 10 per cent curtailment level.

"The move is possible because warmer temperatures have been predicted for February and all East Ohio customers have cooperated in conservation efforts," David Talbott, spokesman for the company, said.

Maintenance level curtailments have been in effect for Columbia since Jan. 31 and for East Ohio since Jan. 17.

Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co. lifted maintenance level curtailments to all customers using 50,000 cubic feet or more of gas, returning them to the 80 per cent curtailment level. Smaller nonresidential users are still at 30 per cent cutback levels, David Altemuehle, of CG&E, said.

Don Speyer, director of community and employee relations at Dayton Power and Light, said that his company reviews the energy situation daily, but it doesn't look like there will be any change in its decision to limit nonresidential customers to plant protection level until March 20.

Chuck Morris of the state's energy crisis center estimates that about 400,000 Ohioans were unemployed Tuesday because of energy shortages. Earlier, the state estimated one million Ohioans were idled.

"We will continue to monitor the situation to see how many will be going back to work Wednesday," he said.

Besides the action by Columbia and East Ohio, propane and petroleum are becoming more easily attainable and problems are winding down a little."

Local center solves problem for mentally retarded adults

By CINDI PEARCE

Record-Herald Staff Writer

For most kids, the age of 16 is synonymous with "driver's license". Likewise, reaching the age of 18 immediately qualifies a person for voting rights and 3.2 beer, as well as usually signifying the end of the high school career. The age of 21, which may well have lost some of its impact in recent years due to the lowering of the voting age, still symbolically, denotes "adulthood".

But for some Fayette County residents, the age of 21 is not a time of emancipation, but a milestone to be dreaded. These people are those who are moderately, severely, profoundly or developmentally retarded. Once they become 21 years of age, they are no longer eligible for schooling at the Fayette Progressive School. The question then is, what now?

For the parents of retarded children, who obviously grow into retarded adults, the Progressive School and its counterparts are Godsend. But what does a parent do with an adult-child who has reached the age of 21 and is no longer eligible to attend school? A solution to this problem has been rendered in this area with the creation of the Fayette Adult Training Center, which provides a sheltered work situation for retarded individuals 16 years of age and over.

William Creamer is a teacher of the vocation-oriented school, which is currently composed of 11 members ranging in age from 17 to 30 (there are no age limits). He said that many of the students at the Progressive School had reached the age of 21 and consequently, an immediate need for some type of continuing education developed.

The Fayette Adult Training Center, which started operations in September, is funded primarily through the Fayette County Board of Mental Retardation.

Creamer explained that if a student wants to continue his or her education after the age of 21, their option is to enroll in the Adult Training Center program. But, at the same time, many 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20-year-olds are admitted into the center if their needs garner the transition from the Progressive School classroom situation.

All of the students entering the program are given a psychological evaluation by a psychologist and a medical evaluation by a physician. Each client's needs are then assessed and individual habilitation plans are prepared by Creamer and his aide, Virginia Jordan. These studies simply tell Creamer and Mrs. Jordan what areas each student needs help in.

Creamer and Mrs. Jordan, who are both paid by the Fayette County Board of Mental Retardation, must provide their students with five hours each week of speech and language, physical development, self-care development, sex education, social competence and recreation, and consumer education activities for daily living. The rest of the class time is devoted to vocational work training.

If this training center did not exist, all individuals in the area, who had reached the age of 21 and were suffering from some aspect of mental retardation, would be sent home. Period.

Creamer feels that the program is a great asset to the community. "There are very, very few community jobs offered to these people after they finish the Progressive School. Hopefully, now we will be able to bring them up to the level where they can go out and secure employment. However, for the most part, the majority of them will never work outside the sheltered (classroom) situation."

A non-profit organization had to be chartered by the state (which was completed in November) to allow the training center to pay their clients (students) for the work they did. Recently, a contract with CalMar Industries was secured by the training center. The students will inspect 88,000 French Mustard container lids shipped from California. Some of the lids are defective and the unusables must be spotted and separated from the usable. Creamer said that CalMar Industries will be able to avoid a loss of time and profit by contracting with the center to perform the task.

The students in the training center are now putting together ink pens, which Creamer said, "Is a really good money making project because we can pay them about one and one half cents for each pen they put together, which will average out to about $3 an hour for putting pens together. But, we have to find an outlet for the pens."

The class also wrapped parking meter tokens for Washington C.H. merchants. The merchants, in turn, paid the corporation which paid the students for their labor.

"We pay them sub-minimum wages, which we have to pay because they are unable to produce on a level with competitive labor," Creamer remarked. "We had to get a certificate from the Department of Labor, the Wage and Hour Division, in order to pay them salaries. The pay is based on how much they produce. We run time studies on them and see at what level they produce. If they put out one-third the normal rate, then we pay them one-third the normal salary."

For three months prior to Christmas, the class made ceramics under the instruction of Mrs. Jordan, and earned $500 from sales.

The money that the students are earning is the first money most of them have ever had. "It's their money. And we teach them what to do with it. That's one of our areas of education. For the most part, they've never had their own money. It has no meaning for them. On the other hand, they know money is money," Creamer stated.

Creamer, who holds a masters degree in education and taught in the public school system for eight years, said that the students still consider the training center "school" rather than "work". "Right now, they call it school because that's really what it's been to them since we haven't had that much work for them to do yet. That's one reason why we're trying to get out of this

Ohio gas situation clouded

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The exact status of natural gas supplies for Ohio homes seems as unclear to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio as it must be to laymen. Commissioners on Tuesday expressed frustration with being unable to get sound information.

"Who are we listening to?" asked Commissioner David Sweet. "The governor says we need another 13 million cubic feet while Columbia is saying everything is hunky-dory."

The commissioners' seeming frustration came during a staff report of Tuesday's natural gas supply status. One staff member said that information is changing so fast and is so frequently incorrect that the staff is relying on telephone confirmation by a specific Columbia Gas employee.

"We're no longer relying on Columbia's telegrams to customers as a valid form of information. We're classifying that as rumor," the staffer said.

Another staff member mentioned that it was rumored that Columbia might take an unspecified action.

"Rumor...that's equivalent to a letter from Columbia, isn't it," snapped Sweet.

After the meeting, C. Luther Heckman, commission chairman, added his voice. "I can't figure it out," he said.

He was responding to a question asking why Columbia would lift its short-term extraordinary curtailments Wednesday morning in the face of estimates that as much as 20 billion cubic feet of emergency gas may be needed just to meet the needs of residential and small commercial customers.

That estimate was made Tuesday by Robert S. Ryan, director of the Energy and Resource and Development Agency, as he said the state's original request for federal emergency allocations might have to be doubled or tripled if the cold continues.

Columbia Gas has answered such queries by saying residential conservation and emergency purchases will help the company get through the rest of the heating season.

Meanwhile Tuesday, Columbia Gas wrote Gov. James A. Rhodes and legislative leaders asking for a temporary repeal of House Bill 1213 which the company contends will prevent it from recovering the special costs of emergency gas purchases.

The bill's sponsor, state Rep. Michael Stinziano, D-50 Columbus, contends that is not the case. He says it only prevents the gas company from spreading the cost across the entire consuming sector rather than charging the added cost only to the users of the emergency gas.

PUCO spent more than an hour discussing the effects of the bill with nearly all large gas customers curtailed to maintenance levels.

Nothing was concluded.

Heckman broke the conversation off, saying, "I move we adjourn. I'm tired of gas."

Indianapolis gunman still holds hostage

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A gunman who wired the muzzle of a sawed-off shotgun to the neck of his hostage and said he was "ready to die," remained holed up in an apartment today, awaiting word on his demand for immunity from prosecution.

Anthony Kiritis, 44, of Indianapolis, stopped negotiating with police who ringed the apartment building Tuesday night and said he would resume talking to them this morning.

Kiritis, described as having had demilitarized training in the Army, claimed he had the third-floor apartment rigged with explosives.

Members of the Indianapolis police special weapons and tactics team, garbed in black, maintained a watch during the night in other buildings, and a U.S. Army bomb squad from nearby Ft. Harrison was on hand to disarm any explosive devices that might be found.

About 500 residents of the complex were evacuated.

Earlier, Kiritis had demanded and received a promise from Meridian Mortgage Co. that he would be released from a $130,000 mortgage loan issued for property on which Kiritis hoped to build a shopping center. His hostage was Richard O. Hall, 42-year-old son of Meridian's board chairman.

Indiana State Police Col. Alfred Walker said officials had traced 100 pounds of dynamite that Kiritis had purchased from a well-drilling firm.

"I'm not going to do any time. I'm not going to jail," Kiritis shouted through the door to police. "I don't want to hurt anybody."

State solons probe gas pinch

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Senate committee began its probe of Ohio's natural gas companies today with U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum of Cleveland billed as a star witness.

Metzenbaum, a longtime oil and utility company critic, planned to appear before the special panel headed by Sen. Neal F. Zimmers Jr., D-5 Dayton, who said he wants to get at the truth behind the state's critical fuel shortage.

Other energy-related matters came into the forefront Tuesday as the Senate and House returned from a three-week, regular session recess. They faced a pile of yet-to-be-considered bills — more than 280 — and other carried-over business. Neither had major floor action Tuesday. The House passed one bill, extending the statutory limit on a rehabilitation study.

The legislature convened its 1977 session Jan. 3 but broke Jan. 12 for the presidential inauguration. The lawmakers came back into session Jan. 26 and enacted a couple of stopgap energy measures at the request of Gov. James A. Rhodes.

One of those worked out legal snarls resulting from missed school days, and the other allegedly cut about 10 days out of the normal three or four week waiting time for jobless benefits, to help workers laid off as a result of the energy crunch.

Besides the Senate committee, also on tap today was a meeting of the House Energy and Environment Committee for a briefing from state energy officials on the governor's executive proclamation authorizing the use of Ohio's high sulfur coal.

Despite both federal and state regulations restricting its use, the governor maintains that Ohio's estimated 600-year supply of coal holds the only real solution to the energy problem.

In other developments, Sen. William

H. Mussey, R-14 Batavia, introduced a bill repealing a 1976 law that prohibited natural gas companies from passing costs of short-term emergency purchases for industries along to residential users.

Mussey, who voted for the bill last year, said he acted Tuesday without knowing that Columbia Gas of Ohio Inc., Ohio's biggest supplier, had requested the legislature to at least suspend the law until Nov. 1. The request from Marvin E. White, Columbia's board chairman, infuriated Rep. Michael P. Stinziano, D-30 Columbus, sponsor of the 1976 law. He charged the firm was trying to bring pressure in a time of crisis for higher prices, and denied White's assertion that Ohio companies, now seeking federal gas in competition with other states, are hamstrung by the less than year-old statute.

In its only floor action Tuesday, the House approved overwhelmingly a measure that extends until next Jan. 1 the life of a committee which has been studying state programs for the rehabilitation of injured workers. It now goes to the Senate.

Hearings got under way in the House on bills proposing to freeze student fees at state supported universities, and repeal an existing statute that can result in homeowners having to pay twice for home construction and repairs. Both were held for further hearings.

Carter-Congress honeymoon tested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Democrats are putting their stamp on President Carter's economic stimulus program in ways that could test the president's stated eagerness to prolong his honeymoon with Congress.

Carter held his first full-scale news conference on Tuesday and said he thought he could accept the changes Congress was likely to make in his proposals to create jobs and cut taxes. He also said complaints from congressional leaders about his failure to consult often enough with them were justified.

However, on the changes in his economic program, Carter warned that "if such drastic changes were made in it that would cause me to doubt its effectiveness or its viability, I would, of course, veto it."

As he spoke, Congressional Democrats were putting the finishing touches on a public works jobs bill twice the size of the program Carter requested.

And some of his tax proposals, including a plan for a $50 rebate to most Americans, have run into serious opposition on Capitol Hill.

In the delicate area of arms negotiations with the Soviet Union, there also were signs of future trouble between the new president and Congress in opposition that has emerged to his appointment of Paul Warnke to head the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

Despite opposition from senators who say Warnke would be too willing to compromise with the Russians, his nomination appeared headed for approval by the Senate and he received a new endorsement from Carter.

Much of Carter's nationally broadcast news conference was devoted to repeating his pledges to work closely with Congress and also to trying to calm some of the congressional uneasiness over Warnke.

On Capitol Hill, members of Congress appeared anxious to avoid a rhetorical clash with the president, not yet three weeks in office. Carter's comments on domestic and foreign policy and his pointed mention of his veto power, drew no reaction from members of the House and Senate.

Meanwhile, Senate Public Works Committee chairman Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., said expansion of the jobs program had tentative approval from the White House.

"I have a feeling the administration is favorable to the $4 billion and might be favorable to condensing it into a short period of time," Randolph said.

Carter had asked for $2 billion for next year and another $2 billion for the following year. Randolph was talking about spending the entire $4 billion the first year.

At his news conference, the president

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Ruby P. Gilmore

CHILICOTHE — Mrs. Ruby P. Gilmore, 62, of Chillicothe, died at 7 a.m. Tuesday in her residence following an extended illness.

Born in Ross County, Mrs. Gilmore was the widow of Leonard Gilmore who died in December 1973.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Donald (Judith) Speirs, Rt. 1, Londonderry, and Mrs. Marvin (Kristi) Dett, of Chillicothe; a son, David H. Gilmore, Baltimore, Md.; six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Rebe (Mae) Hamilton and Mrs. Larry (Laura) Leeth, both of Washington C.H.; a half-sister, Mrs. Chloe Conrod, of Chillicothe, and two brothers, James Martin, of Florida, and Charles Wilson, of Hillsboro.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Fawcett-Oliver and Glass Funeral Home, Chillicothe, with the Rev. Roger Webb Jr. officiating. Burial will be in Brown's Chapel Cemetery, near Clarksburg.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 6 p.m. tonight.

Mainly About People

The name of a surviving daughter in the Mrs. Dorothy Lee Brewer obituary carried in Tuesday's Record-Herald was incorrect. The name of the surviving daughter should have been Mrs. Marvin (Myra) Cook, of Washington C.H., instead of Mrs. Myra Shaw as was published. The Record-Herald regrets the error.

Gene Mark, 704 Miami Trace Road, owner of the Mark Hybrid Seed Co., was named the Agri Businessman of the Week during the week of Jan. 10. The announcement was carried over a 52-station network.

Mrs. Kenneth (Peg) Miller of 601 Gregg St., is a surgical patient in University Hospital, Columbus. She will be in the hospital for one week, and at home two weeks, before returning to her duties as corresponding secretary at Grace United Methodist Church.

Solons eye mechanics liens

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Simplicity apparently is the code word for a new effort under way here to do something about Ohio's embattled mechanics' lien law.

Although the statute sounds like it could be a carburetor adjustment, it is an aging section of the Ohio Code which can and has resulted in a homeowner having to pay twice for home repairs and building materials. Carpenters and masons come under the legal definition of mechanic.

Super slurper may revolutionize didies

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Super slurper, a blend of manmade materials and starch that could revolutionize farming and babies' diapers, is getting thirstier all the time: A scientist says it now absorbs 5,300 times its weight in distilled water.

Three hundred times its weight was all it could manage when developed in 1973 by five chemists for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Research Service.

The substance — patented on behalf of the public — has absorptive qualities vastly superior to anything else known to man, said Dr. William Doane, one of the developers.

"We're still trying to understand why it does what it does, and in doing so we found some new improvements," Doane said.

Super slurper is made by grafting acrylonitrile, the starting material for synthetics used in clothing and carpeting, to starch. The colorless material, which turns water to a gelatin, is known formally as saponified starch-polyacrylonitrile graft copolymer.

USDA program specialist Roger A. Eisenhauer said there is a potential market of 750 million to one billion pounds of slurper a year for agriculture, oil recovery chemicals, pharmaceuticals, cosmetics, towels and other uses.

The absorbent capacity of the compound drops when used in salt solutions such as blood or urine, and developments have not made significant improvements from slurper's original capacity for these solutions, Doane said.

But, he said, super slurper is 20 times more effective than cellulose now used in bandages and disposable diapers. The cellulose holds only about 30 times its weight in blood or urine.

Even more important, he said, is that cellulose subjected to pressure "like a squirmy baby, only holds its own weight in urine.... Slurper still holds three-fourths of its capacity (up to 75 times) under such pressure."

The first application for slurper appears to be in agriculture. Inter Seeding Co. of Arcola will begin coating seeds with a patented super slurper process this spring.

Super slurper was patented last year by the USDA and its developers from the Northern Research Laboratory in Peoria were honored Saturday as inventors of the year by the Association for the Advancement of Invention and Innovation, Arlington, Va.

Federal regulators don't know rules?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawyers who deal with federal regulatory agencies say fewer than two-thirds of the commissioners now serving on such panels actually understand the laws they are supposed to enforce, a congressional survey shows.

The lawyers would recommend only about half of the commissioners of eight agencies for reappointment by the president, said the survey, which was released today along with two reports by the Senate Government Operations Committee.

The reports, the first of six planned in a federal regulation study, suggest major overhauls in the handling of regulatory appointments by Congress and the White House to improve the quality of appointees.

Release of the study comes before President Carter has nominated anyone to the 11 regulatory posts he now can fill.

The reports urge stiff new conflict of interest rules to slow the "revolving door" between regulatory agencies and the industries they oversee, lending support to Carter's call for such new laws.

The study found regulatory agencies have done a poor job of enforcing existing conflict-of-interest laws and regulations.

The two reports made 64 recommendations for action by Congress, Carter and the regulatory agencies, including:

—Enactment of a "sunset" law that would abolish each regulatory agency on a given date unless it is specifically renewed by Congress;

—Chopping the Interstate Commerce Commission from 11 to three members, with Carter appointing all three of a reconstituted commission;

—Writing into law the requirement that the various commissions be made up of persons with a variety of backgrounds and who represent a broad range of interests;

—Adoption of new agency regulations to restrict the activities of members of a law firm that has among its members a former agency official or commissioner.

Measles epidemic?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Failure by parents to get their children immunized against measles has health officials worried that an epidemic of the disease may be the next crisis Ohio will face.

The number of measles cases reported during the last year jumped sharply over the year before and current statistics show that many are gambling with the disease by not getting their children vaccinated against it. The Department of Health reports that more than 100,000 children in the state have not been immunized.

"The number of (10-day) measles cases in Ohio in 1976 was 10 times greater than the year before," said Dr. Thomas J. Halpin, chief of the department's preventive medicine bureau. "There were 1,000 cases, compared to 106 in 1975."

"Formal statistics for 1977 haven't been compiled yet, but we believe the number of measles cases will be just as high as in 1976," he said. "It's a highly communicable disease. There were three areas of the state last year where close to 100 cases were reported during a short time."

There are two kinds of measles, Halpin said. The three-day variety, also known as rubella or German measles, is a mild illness that sometimes goes unrecognized, he said. It is the variety that can cause damage to unborn children if a pregnant woman becomes infected, he said.

Hard measles, also called red, or 10-day measles, can cause high fever and a week or more of illness. This is the disease that sometimes causes brain damage or pneumonia for the person who contracts it, Halpin said.

the code section last session only to have it vetoed by the governor, is back this year on an outright repealer.

The fourth-term House member told the House Judiciary Committee on Tuesday that his proposal would mean simply that mechanics' liens no longer would exist for owners of single- or two-unit dwellings.

"We are keeping it simple," said Thompson of his 1 1/2 page bill, which grew to more than 30 pages last time before it reached Gov. James A. Rhodes' desk.

Limiting it to one- or two-unit residences is all that is needed, the Cuyahoga County lawmaker said, since owners of larger units "are sophisticated, they have their own lawyers anyway."

Under the existing law, a homeowner can be held liable if a general contractor, for instance, fails to pay subcontractors or suppliers of materials on a project—even though the homeowner already has paid the general contractor.

During testimony last session, there was a parade of witnesses who told horror stories of being bilked without recourse under the law.

Judiciary Chairman Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, said Tuesday the prior testimony was so convincing that he doesn't plan to ask for more this year, unless committee members insist.

Thompson's original bill, riddled with loopholes and exceptions by the time it reached Rhodes' desk, was described by nearly everyone involved as one that only further complicated an already complicated law.

Norton R. Webster, representing the Ohio Land Title Association, and Robert McAllister, spokesman for the Ohio Association of Real Estate Board, both urged approval of the Thompson bill.

Webster said his organization, made up of attorneys who do title searches and closings for home purchasers, reexamined its position "and came to the conclusion...that simplicity is what the people want."

McAllister said the proposed law would enable a homeowner to go into court with a receipt showing the job had been paid for "and that would be it, once and for all."

Lehman's committee also heard initial testimony on a bill by Rep. Alan E. Norris, R-27 Westerville, which takes a different approach. Under the bill, governmental authorities issuing building permits would be required to formally notify the homeowner of the possibility of being held in double financial jeopardy under the law as it exists.

Norris appeared alone on behalf of his bill, and conceded at one point that the measure sponsored by the majority Democrat "is likely to be the one that will move."

Both measures will be taken up again Feb. 15.

building (the Fayette Progressive School) and into a vocational atmosphere. I think they would produce more and find it easier to work if elsewhere."

The training center, which is operated on a year-round basis, is filled to capacity at this point. "We can't accommodate any more students in our present facility (one room)," which is another reason for wanting to find a new location.

Creamer found teaching in the public school system (Blanchester, East Clinton), much more frustrating and less satisfying than what he is currently doing. This is my first experience working with the mentally retarded and I'm enjoying it. It's not nearly as frustrating as it is when you're working with someone you know should be able to do the work, but they're not doing it. These people, you don't expect so much from. I was frustrated with high school teaching because I was getting to the point where I didn't feel like I was accomplishing anything.

This job gives me a feeling that I'm doing a little more for the people than I was with the high school students. It just got to the place where I didn't think the high school students cared, for the most part."

Noting that all but two of the students in the training center have been educated at the Progressive School, Creamer said, "Those who attended the Progressive School have longer attention spans, but when you give them work to do you can't force them. They have to want to do it and they will."

Creamer feels that most parents of retarded children have over-protected attitudes toward the child and refuse to let the child grow up both physically and mentally. "The parents need to be educated, too," he remarked.

Members of the Board of directors of the Fayette Adult Training Center are, Thomas Mark, chairman; Andy Anderson, vice chairman; Iona Edwards, secretary; James Ward, treasurer; James Waddle and Frank Sollars. The board was formed in November at which time a charter, as well as a work-activity center certificate, was obtained.

In conclusion Creamer said, "We're continuing the student's education, but also helping him to earn something which he can contribute to his support."

New Army chief to ponder draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's nominee for Secretary of the Army says he will give early priority to military manpower problems, but sees no reason to reinstate the draft.

At his confirmation hearing before the Senate Armed Services Committee on Monday, Clifford L. Alexander acknowledged there is disagreement over whether the all-volunteer Army is working well, or whether a system of involuntary service should be reinstated to help fill widening gaps in the reserves.

Gen. Bernard W. Rogers, the Army chief of staff, testified earlier that the strength of both Army reserve units and the ready reserve, who would be called up in time of war, is declining and will become "critical" over the next two years.

Rogers said that if hostilities erupted and the draft were taken out of "deep freeze," it would take nearly four months to get the first recruits into training and three more months to prepare them to fight.

Alexander said the manpower problems are among "questions of great moment" needing study. But he added that he could not now commit himself to a revival of involuntary service.

"If it were needed for national defense, of course, but I don't see it a need for it now," said Alexander.

The committee voted 6-0 to approve Alexander's nomination and send it to the Senate floor, subject to a poll of absent members by the panel's chairman, Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss. It gave similar approval to Carter's choice for Navy secretary, W. Graham Claytor Jr.

referred to his economic proposals as "a comprehensive package of two-year duration that is well-balanced. There is a limit on how much money you can spend on public works without wasting money."

He didn't mention the plan to double the size of the jobs program or suggest whether such an increase would still keep it within the limit that could be spent without waste.

Carter was asked about a statement by House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., that "some of your top advisers seem to have an attitude of confrontation regarding Congress."

Carter responded that "we have given them cause for some of the complaints inadvertently.... We have not been adequately careful in the initial days in dealing with the Congress."

Opinion And Comment

Population crisis easing

Not many years ago there was note of almost frantic urgency in demographers' warnings about what one of their number aptly dubbed the population explosion. The experts warned that unchecked growth threatened the world with dire consequences - not only widespread starvation as rising numbers out-paced food production, but overcrowding, insatiable demand for limited natural resources, and intolerable pressures on a wide range of human institutions.

Lately the population experts have noted heartening signs that the rate of growth is slowing down. The danger is far from being over, but there is some basis for hope that the worst of it can be averted.

This does not mean that the demographers were wrong, or that their warnings of a few years ago were exaggerated. What it means, in essence, is that their warnings have begun to be heeded to a globally significant degree. The response, in particular the growing use of contraceptives in underdeveloped countries, has greatly lessened the threat of runaway over-population.

In 1965 the world birth rate stood at 34 per 1,000 people. A report by the Population Reference Bureau notes that by 1974 it had declined to 30, and says that it may drop to 20 per 1,000 within a decade. The human race, it appears, may yet surmount what once loomed as its gravest problem.

THESE DAYS....By John Chamberlain

Who was responsible for evasion?

Gen. Lew Walt, the former assistant commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps and a senior member of President Ford's Clemency Board, has expressed his outraged convictions about Jimmy Carter's blanket pardon of the Vietnam War draft evaders. Writing for Penthouse magazine, the general predicts that the amnesty will live to haunt the country the next time it happens to need a selective service program to survive a more than ordinary crisis.

The former Marine commander, of course, is right. Unfortunately, a far more dangerous precedent was created during the Vietnam years by a government that was willing to start a war which it had no intention of fighting to an effective finish. Gen. Walt himself, while working for the Clemency Board, actually supported clemency for "idealistic young men with reasoned personal convictions" or for "genuinely conscientious objectors on religious grounds."

What seems missing from the general's list is a willingness to consider, under a separate heading, the draft evader who had the intelligence to realize that he was about to be inducted into the armed forces by an Administration that was prepared to send young flesh into a never-ending meat-chopper with no plan for eliminating the enemy's geographical base in North Vietnam.

Try as I may, I find it hard to condemn a person for a refusal to be killed for no demonstrably reasonable end. True enough, you can't run a country by letting individuals decide for themselves what laws they will obey and what laws they will resist. But when the administrators of the draft law decided to enforce it for no patriotic purpose worthy of the name, draft evasion became an understandable response. No sane human being wants to be considered first cousin to a stuck pig.

What was missing from Jimmy Carter's pardon statement was a condemnation of the so-called best and brightest who ran the Vietnamese meat-chopper for all those years of witless struggle. Louis A. Fanning, a former Army intelligence analyst who teaches history in the State University of New York at Farmingdale, has written a powerful indictment of both the Executive and the Congress for letting South Vietnam go down the drain. He calls his book "Betrayal in Vietnam." I'm not so sure the title is right. "Stupidity in Vietnam" might have been a more accurate assessment. But the Fanning facts can hardly be controverted: We had a government that was willing to start something it lacked the stamina and brains to finish.

The "best and the brightest" included a lot of senators who, eventually, turned against the war which their permissiveness let President Lyndon Johnson start under the Congressional immunity of the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution. Prof. Fanning's quotations, taken from the record, are lethal.

In 1965, Sen Edward Kennedy said we had a commitment to defend freedom in Southeast Asia because it was "our heritage, our destiny." In the same year Sen George McGovern remarked that he hoped "that we would be prepared" to fight in Vietnam "rather than surrender the area to Communism." Sen. Fred Harris, the Oklahoma populist, said, oracularly, that the Vietnam War was "not a civil war... the security of the United States is in jeopardy here." And Sen. Birch Bayh insisted that "if we are to turn tail and run, the entire Southeast Asia area... would come under Communist domination."

If the senators thought this way, it was up to them to vote the money to carry the war to the enemy's base in North Vietnam and to put the Red Chinese on notice that the Bomb would await them if they intervened. This the senators refused to do.

President Johnson, with an utter obliviousness to the history of warfare, thought he could fight on a static line, which has always been a sure recipe for disaster. When Nixon assumed office, it was too late to do much to turn things around on the battlefield without raising havoc on the U.S. home front.

You see, the kids had made the relevant deduction from the behavior of Washington. They had voted with their Canada-bound feet against being slaughtered for nothing.

Draft dodging is not something to be commended. But the greater disgrace is to start a war with no real plan for victory.

Mail-order religion now big business

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ever have a yen to preach the gospel? You can become a minister for $3 or an archbishop for $8 by applying to a mail-order ordination company.

Postal officials say they can't stop the sale of unearned religious titles because of constitutional guarantees of freedom of religion.

Federal law prohibits using the mail for a misrepresentation scheme and the Postal Service regularly uses this law to shut down "diploma mill" operations that sell college degrees through the mail.

"But there is very little we can do about mail-order ordination. If these outfits didn't have religious trappings we would move against them immediately," Postal Service attorney Thomas Ziebarth said.

In the absence of government action, mail-order religion is becoming an increasingly large business, with an estimated 100 operators now selling ordination papers or religious degrees.

These operators usually work out of their homes. They usually ask no questions about an applicant's religious beliefs before declaring him a minister, authorized to preach, marry couples and often ordain more ministers. All the operators ask for is an "offering."

Besides whatever spiritual blessings ordination may bring, some mail-order ministers use their status for tax breaks.

In a recent tax protest in Harderburgh, N.Y., where much land is owned by church or other non-profit groups, some 118 of the town's 236 residents enrolled as ministers in the Universal Life Church. The local assessor took them off the tax rolls.

The Universal Life Church was one of the first mail-order churches, founded in 1959 by Kirby J. Hensley in his Modesto, Calif., home.

Ziebarth said the church will send you a card identifying you as an ordained minister for the asking. Afterwards, you can obtain various degrees, including an honorary Doctor of Divinity "for a minimum offering of $20."

The church's literature says, "The Universal Life Church has no traditional doctrine. We as an organization only believe in that which is right. Each individual has the privilege and responsibility to determine what is right."

The Mother Earth Church of Sacramento, Calif., will send you ordination papers for a "requested offering" of $3 plus postage and handling. For $8, you can become an honorary archbishop or any title you choose.

Ziebarth says court decisions have upheld mail-order churches.

Leesburg, Highland County, was settled by Quakers and named for the Lee family of Virginia. Giant earth-moving machines manufactured in Marion, Ohio, helped dig the Panama Canal and Boulder Dam. Such huge shovels are still manufactured there. — AP

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: A GREAT MANY PEOPLE THINK THEY ARE THINKING WHEN THEY ARE REALLY REARRANGING THEIR PREJUDICES. — EDWARD R. MURROW

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Stop competing, start improving

DEAR ABBY: I am jealous of my younger sister. She's 16 and I'm 18. She's prettier than I am and has a great figure, and I'm too fat. She's also smarter than I am.

She even has more personality and character than I have. (She's an extrovert and I'm an introvert.)

She has lots of friends and I don't have any. How can I get over feeling so jealous?

JEALOUS
DEAR JEALOUS: It's apparent that you have a very low opinion of yourself. First, quit competing with your sister and do the most with what you have. You can improve your appearance by diet and exercise, and by trying to look as good as you can. Everyone can't be beautiful, but anyone can be attractive and well-groomed.

You can develop a more appealing personality by getting out of your shell and showing a genuine interest in others. Improve your character by listening to your conscience and acting accordingly.

Pray for the strength and determination to carry out the above self-improvement program, and you'll have nothing to be jealous about. Write again in six months and let me know how you're doing. I care.

DEAR ABBY: Last week I got a call from a man named Micky, asking me to tell my husband to stay away from his wife, Carol. He said a friend of my husband's had tipped him off.

When I asked my husband about it, he denied everything and said he didn't even know a "Carol."

A few nights later the same man called to say that his wife had confessed to having an affair with my husband. She said it was the first time she ever did anything like that, and she promised never to see my husband again.

Again I spoke to my husband and again he denied everything. He said someone must be playing a joke on me. Well, my husband as stepped out on me in the past, but the last time I caught him he put his hand on the Bible and swore he'd never do it again.

I don't know who to believe. This Micky sounded very sincere and said he wanted to keep his marriage together because they have small children.

Abby, I have to get to the bottom of this. How do I go about it? Are lie detector machines available to rent? Have you any advice?

NEEDS TO KNOW
DEAR NEEDS: If you COULD rent a lie detector machine (which is unlikely; I'd advise you to skip it. Better get the Bible out and ask your husband to renew his promise.

DEAR ABBY: I'm dating this girl I care for a lot, and she claims it's mutual, but here's the problem: She smokes and I don't, and her smoking really bugs me.

She promised she'd stop smoking if I grew a mustache. Well, I grew one, but she's still smoking.

Please tell me how to deal with this annoying situation.

TOM IN FLUSHING, N.Y.

DEAR TOM: You could resign yourself to the fact that: (a) your girl's promises are about as permanent as smoke; (b) she's hooked and won't quit for you or anybody else.

Or you could get rid of the mustache AND the girl.

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU: St. Valentine's Day is just around the corner, so be a sweetheart and take a shut-in out for a drive, invite a "single" over to relieve his (or her) loneliness or send someone you like a funny card, some flowers or a little gift. Or call someone you love and say, "Hey, I love you!"

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Wednesday, Feb. 9, the 40th day of 1977. There are 325 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1825, the House of Representatives elected John Quincy Adams President after an election in which none of the candidates received an electoral majority.

On this date:

In 1773, William Harrison, the ninth American President, was born in Charles City County, Va.

In 1942, the former French liner "Normandie" burned and capsized at a New York pier as it was being outfitted as a troop transport.

Ten years ago: Secretary of State Dean Rusk rejected North Vietnam's call for an unconditional halt to U.S. bombing.

Five years ago: President Richard Nixon said the world was closer to a stable peace because his administration was dealing with what he called the "opportunities of tomorrow."

One year ago: Patricia Hearst testified at her trial that she took part in a bank robbery only because she was threatened with death.

Today's birthdays: Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk is 68. Sportsman Bill Vecek is 63.

Thought for today: Education is the ability to listen to almost anything without losing your temper or your self-confidence. — Poet Robert Frost.

SECOND STRAIGHT AWARD — Mrs. Wanda Taylor, left, chairman of the Fayette County unit of the American Cancer Society's "Send A Mouse to College" project, receives an award from Mrs. Dale Panovich, northwest Ohio area crusade coordinator, for the county's high per capita participation on the project. The project, which is the only cancer crusade fund-raiser to involve school children, raised $1,000 during the 1976 crusade. This was the highest per capita contribution of counties throughout Ohio. The local cancer society unit also received the award in 1975 when $987 was raised. To participate, children contribute 51 cents apiece which is used in cancer research. The award was presented to the local unit at the Ohio Division Cancer Crusade training conference in Columbus last month.

Pomp and ceremony slashed

WASHINGTON (AP) — When foreign dignitaries visit the White House they'll hear fewer trumpets and view smaller military displays. President Carter has ordered a cutback in "pomp and ceremony."

Presidential aides say the cutback is part of a Carter plan to remove the image of an imperial presidency.

"I don't want to waste my time or theirs. I want to use my time and theirs to maximum advantage," Carter said Monday in explaining why he wants to scale down the ceremonies for foreign visitors.

White House spokesman Rex Granum said Carter wants fewer trumpets sounding and "the enormous military display drastically reduced."

What Carter is taking aim at is the half-hour welcoming ceremonies on the south lawn of the White House.

Those ceremonies have grown in recent years to redcarpet pageants that include an exchange of speeches by the president and the foreign leader, a review of troops and the fanfare of trumpets sounding from a White House balcony.

There have been no decisions yet on what changes will be made in such ceremonies. But Granum said "there will not be the same number of people greeting or the same number of trumpets sounding."

In advance of his first foreign visitors

— Mexican President Jose Lopez Ortillo on Feb. 14 and Canadian President Pierre Elliot Trudeau on Feb. 21 — Carter has asked his White House staff to give him a rundown on ceremonies his presidential predecessors produced.

According to White House historians it was President John F. Kennedy who started the welcoming ceremonies on the South Lawn. But in recent years such ceremonies have involved as many as 378 members of the armed forces, including 14 Army herald-trumpeters, a red-coated marching Marine band and sometimes a fife and drum corps in colonial uniform.

Things were more simple back when Presidents Truman and Eisenhower used to journey to nearby National Airport or to Andrews Air Force Base to welcome arriving heads of state. A military guard of about 60 turned out for the airport ceremonial reviews.

Protocol is pretty much a two-way street and it is highly likely that any Carter ceremonial cutbacks may result in reciprocal treatment — with fewer trumpets blaring their greetings to Carter when he arrives on foreign shores.

Bank manager tells Rotary members

Farm land value rise to continue

Value of Ohio farm land, which has skyrocketed at a rate of almost 60 per cent in the past three years, will continue to increase, Ron Ratliff, manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Washington C.H., told local Rotary Club members Tuesday.

"It does appear land values will continue to increase, but land is good, solid investment," Ratliff said.

Ratliff, a member of the local Rotary Club, said that in 1973-1974 Ohio farm land values increased 25 per cent; in 1974-1975 they jumped 13 per cent, and last year showed a 21 per cent hike.

He cited two factors which have contributed to the constant rise in land values. He said the net farm income in the U.S. has grown from $14 billion annually about 10 years to $29 billion per year at present. He also said that during a 20-year period from 1950 to 1970, over 28 million people moved from farms to urban areas, but that migration trend is now being reversed.

Ratliff also explained some of the operations of the Federal Land Bank Association here.

He said the local office serves farmers in Fayette, Madison and Clinton counties, three of the top agricultural areas in Ohio. He said while Fayette and Clinton counties rank near the top in pork and grain production, Madison County has more large single farm ownership than any county in the state.

The average age of borrowers dealing with the association in 1975 dropped from 42 to 39, which is in direct contrast with popular beliefs. The average family farm is now 800 to 1,000 acres, he said.

In 1975, the local office closed 220 loans totalling $19 million, and in 1976, 189 loans totalling $27 million were closed.

"We had fewer loans, but they're (the farmers) using more money," Ratliff said. He said more money was required due to increased land values and rising equipment costs. The average size per loan last year was $121,000.

Ratliff pointed out that the average land value per acre in Fayette County is $1,400.

The regular weekly luncheon meeting was conducted by club president Dr. George Pommert. Clarence Cooper arranged the program.

Allen Thompson of Miami Trace High School was a student guest.

Ethan Allen and his "Green Mountain Boys" from Vermont captured Crown Point and joined with Benedict Arnold to capture Fort Ticonderoga without a shot, gaining control over Lake Champlain and getting priceless cannon. Won't you observe February as American History Month with the Daughters of the American Revolution?

Visiting Rotarians were James Greenfield; Dan Drake and Darrell Ganger, Jack Schluep, Dr. Walter French, of Wilmington, and M.J. Felson and Rene Osterberger, all of Peachtree, of Wadsworth.

Milestone reached by area bank company during 1976

WILMINGTON — The annual stockholders meeting and reorganization meeting of the Clinton County National Bank and Trust Co. of Wilmington was held Tuesday.

M.H. Davids, president, reported to the stockholders that in 1976 the bank reached a milestone in its continuing growth and progress. During the year the bank attained assets of $50 million and at the end of the year had over $54 million in assets.

The bank has seven offices in Wilmington, New Vienna, Sabina and Port William. Each office had a very successful year and contributed to the bank's over-all growth, Davids stated.

Members elected to the advisory board of the Sabina office were J.W. Beam, C.E. Cummings, Dr. R.C. Smith, E.C. Waddell and H.D. Zimmerman.

Officers and employees appointed to the Sabina office were Zimmerman, assistant vice president; Mrs. Avonelle Mercer, assistant cashier; Jack Von Bergen, assistant cashier; Mrs. Charles Snider, teller-bookkeeper; Mrs. Jack Wolfe, teller-bookkeeper; Mrs. George Woodruff, teller-bookkeeper; Mrs. Richard Reese, teller-bookkeeper; Mrs. Terry Marshall, teller-bookkeeper; and Homer McKeever, custodian.

Members elected to the advisory board at the New Vienna office were Gerald E. Bernard, Dr. A.W. Hause, Robert Manuel, Howard Page and Harold Uible.

Officers and employees appointed to the New Vienna office were Thomas W. Brumley, vice president; Elroy Collier, assistant cashier, C.J. Moore, assistant cashier, Mrs. Charles Thompson, teller; Mrs. William Baker, teller, and Joseph Schutte, custodian.

Municipal Court

George R. Sherman, 21, Cincinnati, was found guilty of driving while intoxicated and speeding by Washington C.H. Municipal Court Judge John P. Case Tuesday.

Sherman, who was arrested by Fayette County sheriff's deputies early Tuesday, was fined $200, sentenced to three days in jail and had his license suspended for 30 days on the driving while intoxicated charge. He was fined an additional $20 for speeding.

Also in Municipal Court Tuesday, Judge Case fined William H. Cartwright, 53, of 509 S. Main St. $100 and costs for driving while his license was under suspension.

Susan Rodgers, 50, Bloomingburg, was found guilty of passing a bad $5 check at Andrew Sohio service station in Jeffersonville last August. Judge Case fined her $50 and sentenced her to five days in jail. The jail term was suspended pending good behavior for one year.

McBride leads vote

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Establishment candidate Lloyd McBride, seeking to brush aside rebel Edward Sadlowski in a bid for the presidency of the United Steelworkers union, took an unofficial 2-to-1 lead in early election returns.

Both camps said more than 550,000 of the 1.4 million members voted Tuesday, but the turnout was not as heavy as expected in the hotly contested race to replace I.W. Abel.

An Associated Press survey gave McBride 143,080 votes to 85,451 for Sadlowski, with 2,584 of the union's 5,000 locals reporting.

However, returns from larger locals in the basic steel industry, where Sadlowski expected to do well, were not yet available.

Unofficial returns from McBride's staff gave the 60-year-old St. Louis resident 154,010 votes to 90,685 for Sadlowski with 2,656 locals reporting.

"A McBride victory would mean a continuation of stable relations with our industries and our membership," said Abel, who made an appearance at McBride's headquarters early today.

But ballot counting in the Sadlowski camp gave the challenger a 39,701 to 33,479 lead on returns from 865 locals.

New apartment complex planned near Frankfort

FRANKFORT, Ohio — Legal details have been finalized for a new 24-unit apartment complex to be constructed just west of Frankfort in Ross County. Jo Everhart, an agent with the E.J. Plott Real Estate agency in Washington C.H. who handled the transaction, said the complex will be named Hokesqua Apartments, Ltd. The development is being named after an Indian chief who once resided in a village in the Frankfort area.

Hustler publisher convicted

CINCINNATI (AP) — It took almost five weeks to convict Larry Flynt of engaging in organized crime and pandering obscenity—selling material judge to be obscene—and when the verdict was read, the 34-year-old publisher remained defiant.

"This court has not made an intelligent decision during the entire proceedings and I don't expect one now," Flynt said after his attorneys had just appealed for leniency. "I don't want mercy.

"As Gary Gilmore said, 'Let's do it.'" Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Judge William J. Morrissey granted the request, imposing a seven-to-25 year prison sentence and a $10,000 fine on the engaging in organized crime conviction and a concurrent six month sentence and a $1,000 fine on the charge of pandering obscenity.

The magazine was fined a total of $11,000 on the two counts.

Flynt's wife Althea Leasure, his brother Jimmy and magazine vice president Al Van Schaik were acquitted on the same charges.

The verdict came after seven men and five women had spent four days studying 11 issues of Hustler, which is published in Columbus, Ohio and which has a national circulation of 1,448,000.

"We read every one of those babies from cover to cover," said one juror, who asked to remain anonymous. He said the jury had been deadlocked for two days.

The case was considered a major test of whether the community could dictate obscenity standards. After the verdict, Prosecutor Simon Leis Jr. said he was satisfied with the result.

"Moral boundaries have been established in this county and this country which will put limitations on how far smut peddlers will be allowed to go," Leis said.

scheduled to begin immediately. There will be 12 two-story townhouse apartments in each of two buildings. The apartments will have two bedrooms and the complex will be equipped with a central building with laundry facilities and a recreation area.

The apartment complex will be situated on a 2.68-acre tract being acquired from David and Mary Core on old U.S. 35, just west of Frankfort. The site is located between the Frankfort Greenlawn Cemetery and the Budd Co. plant.

Ms. Everhart said that while the site is not within the Frankfort village limits, the complex will obtain village sewer and water service by tapping into lines serving the Budd Co. plant.

The apartments are expected to be ready for occupancy by early fall.

The total cost of the apartment construction project will be approximately $400,000.

Partners in the apartment project are Ned Eller, of Sounik, Eller and Martin, a Columbus architectural firm; Colleen Spring, manager of a Columbus apartment complex, and Karl Free, of South Salem.

Prior to joining the Grove City organization, Jamison was employed as a sales representative for the Sugar Creek Stone Quarry, Ohio 41-S.

Computer check discloses double medical payments

COLUMBUS — State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson has announced that as a result of a computer check for duplicate payments, findings for recovery totaling $7,946.50 have been issued against 50 physicians providing Medicaid services, boosting the aggregate total of duplicate payments thus far to $25,810.89.

The computer check, the third of a series of checks to be conducted periodically of the state's 30,000 Medicaid providers, revealed duplicate payments ranging from $13 to $1,097.

The computer check involved a comparison of payments to each provider during the period Sept. 1, 1972 through June 30, 1976.

According to Ferguson, duplicate payments could result from a provider submitting a claim for payment more than once, and the Ohio Department of Public Welfare honoring such a claim more than once.

Although 50 audits of the various providers within the state were released today, the Auditor said more will be released in series form periodically "in this phase of auditing public welfare money".

The audit reports released today on the 50 providers have been sent to the Ohio Attorney General, the Ohio Department of Public Welfare, the applicable licensing boards, the county prosecutors and the providers.

All findings were made in favor of the Ohio Department of Public Welfare.

Find staff ratio now in good slot

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The ratio of staff to residents in Ohio's institutions for the mentally retarded has reached one-to-one ratio, according to Dr. Timothy B. Moritz, director of the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

The ratio was accomplished by the addition of 1,987 new employees and a reduction of 1,073 institution residents, Moritz said.

He said federal funding and reallocation of resources within the department enabled the ratio to be achieved without significant increases in state funds.

Order reverses panel removal

MOUNT GILEAD, Ohio (AP) — The 5th District Court of Appeals has reversed a lower court order removing three Northmor Board of Education members.

The unanimous decision of the three judges panel recognizes an error of judgment by the three board members who authorized construction of a building addition without state mandated competitive bidding.

However, the judges cite Ohio Supreme Court rulings that look with disfavor on removing elected officials from office where there is no evidence of "substantial departure from faithful performance of duties."

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Seventy-five TV stations and four national sponsors have signed up so far for the four 90-minute interview programs talk show host David Frost will soon tape with former President Richard M. Nixon.

That's the word from Leon Koch, executive vice president of Syndicast Services, a New York syndication firm Frost's production company hired to market the Nixon-Frost interviews in the United States and overseas.

And by the time the first Nixon-Frost show airs on May 4, Koch said, he expects to have placed the four programs on more than 100 stations, reaching 90 per cent of the viewing audience in the United States.

The shows will be edited from 12 two-hour interviews Frost will start with Nixon late next month at Nixon's home in San Clemente, Calif. They're being offered stations on what is called a "barter basis."

The three commercial networks earlier rejected proposals to buy rights to interview Nixon, citing policies against buying "hard news" stories.

In August 1974, a year after Nixon resigned from office in the wake of the Watergate scandal, Frost said he'd bought the rights to interview him for TV. He refuses to disclose the price paid Nixon, and Koch says he doesn't know how much the fee will be.

But big bucks clearly are involved for all.

Each Nixon show has 12 minutes set aside for commercials. Koch says. He said stations in Syndicast's barter deal won't have to pay for the programs and can sell six minutes of each show's commercial time.

In return, he added, his firm can sell the remaining six commercial minutes of each show to advertisers. He said that time is being sold national sponsors for $125,000 a minute.

That could work out to a whopping $3 million in national advertising revenue for the four-show package.

But so far, Koch said, only two sponsored minutes of each show have been bought — in 30-second units — by four national sponsors. He said they've asked him not to disclose their names right now.

He said other sponsors have placed tentative orders totalling two more minutes of each show, and that he expects to have the series fully sponsored by the time the first Nixon-Frost interview airs in May.

He was asked if the fact the series' commercial time isn't sold out now was due to a reluctance by national advertisers to sponsor a show involving Nixon, a man who left office in disgrace.

"I don't think so," Koch said by phone from New York. "I think, sure, certain companies didn't want any part of that, although nobody has said that to us."

He theorized it may be because Syndicast originally tried to get just one or two advertisers to fully sponsor the series, then tried to get them to sponsor half the entire series and failed each time.

"To that we found sales resistance," he said. "Now we don't know whether it was because of Mr. Nixon or Mr. Frost, or because of the fact we were asking a goodly amount, millions of dollars, but it was hard for us to sell."

Savings possible for Ohio consumers

Generic drug product legislation has bipartisan support

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Legislation with bipartisan backing would permit Ohioans to buy generic drug products from pharmacists rather than purchasing higher priced prescriptions calling for name brands.

The most common generic drug is probably aspirin, the generic name for a pain reliever marketed under a number of trade names.

Sen. Robert D. Freeman, D-29 Canton, cited as a better example chloral hydrate, which he said listed at an average price among the four lowest cost suppliers at $1.27 for 100 milligrams. The top brand name seller at pharmacies, however, costs $4.12 for the same dosage, according to the Stark County lawmaker.

Under the bill, a customer can get a "therapeutically equivalent generic drug" at the pharmacy, assuming it is available, rather than the higher priced product prescribed by his or her doctor.

"The proposed legislation is permissive, and in no way interferes with the doctor-patient relationship," Freeman emphasized. "If the doctor insists on prescribing higher priced drugs, he may do so."

But pharmacists, barred by present law from substituting for a prescription, could provide the same generic drug at a cheaper price unless the physician stipulates in writing "dispense as indicated."

Joining Freeman as sponsors are Asst. Senate Majority Leader M. Morris Jackson, D-21 Cleveland, and Sen. Walter L. White, R-12 Lima.

The bill includes a "truth in labeling" provision, requiring disclosure of the name of the actual drug manufacturer.

Although there are 18 alleged sources, Freeman said all chloral hydrates in Ohio are made by one manufacturer. The cost range of the distributors varies by more than 100 per cent, the legislator said.

"Opponents of the legislation will argue the bill will provide the opportunity for many disreputable drug manufacturers to enter Ohio," Freeman conceded. "Frankly, there is nothing to stop them now. When the bill passes, however, the manufacturers disclosure provision will allow health care professionals and the State Board of Pharmacy to find (them) and put them out of business."

A similar bill, sponsored by Freeman, failed to pass in the last session, and he expects some doctors and drug manufacturers to again fight the measure. But he claims support from the Ohio State Pharmaceutical Association.

"The savings to the consumer resulting from this legislation is so large it is inestimable," Freeman maintains. "The savings to the State of Ohio on its drug purchases will be in the millions of dollars." This would be particularly true in the area of Medicaid, he said.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Classes at Cincinnati Bible Seminary are now being held where it is warmest—in student dormitory rooms.

Forty dormitory rooms on the fourth floor of the school's men's residence hall, some other sections of the building and two lounges in the women's residence halls have been turned into classrooms.

The action was taken by the school of 860 as a voluntary move to conserve natural gas.

Ginzburg latest target of Soviets

MOSCOW (AP) — A shy, redbearded man who has paid out more than $350,000 of Alexander Solzhenitsyn's royalties to Soviet political prisoners and their families is the latest target of the Kremlin's drive against its critics at home.

The arrest last week of Alexander Ginzburg prompted an appeal by more than 200 dissidents for his release and an official expression of concern from the U.S. State Department.

The dissidents' appeal said he was suffering from pneumonia complicated by a chronic tubercular condition. Valentin Turchin, head of the Soviet branch of Amnesty International, said jail meant "certain death for a man in his condition."

The Soviet government has not even said what he is charged with, although the Literary Gazette last week accused him of illegal currency dealings.

Tousled and gaunt from the tubercular condition he picked up during six years in various prisons, the 40-year-old Ginzburg ignored official warnings, police searches and interrogations and managed the relief fund the Nobel prize-winning author established when he was exiled in 1974.

Just before his arrest last week, he told foreign correspondents the fund has paid 270,000 rubles — the equivalent of $363,879 at the official exchange rate — to a total of 1,470 political prisoners or members of their families.

Born Nov. 21, 1936, in a partly Jewish family of economists, Ginzburg was a canoeing champion in 1954, when he was 18. He worked as a lathe operator, actor, theatrical producer and part-time journalist until 1960, when he was sentenced to two years at hard labor for editing Syntaxis, an underground poetry magazine.

He was arrested again in 1964 for allegedly distributing anti-Soviet literature but was released four days later. A Moscow newspaper published a letter over his name attacking "Western propagandists" for trying to make capital of his case.

In January 1968, after a well publicized show trial, Ginzburg and three others were convicted of publishing "The White book on the Siniavsky-Daniel Affair," a collection of documents pertaining to the 1966 conviction of writers Yuli M. Daniel and Andrei Siniavsky for publishing anti-Soviet writings abroad.

Ginzburg served four years. After his release in 1972, he was denied permission to live in Moscow but managed to spend most of his time here with his wife, Irina, and their two small sons. His record as a political prisoner and his continuing activity in the cause of human rights barred him from steady employment, and he held a succession of temporary jobs, most of them doing manual labor.

He is a leading member of the group formed last May to monitor Soviet compliance with the human rights provisions of the Helsinki Accords signed by the United States, the Soviet Union, and 33 other nations in 1975.

For tonight's meeting

Zoning appointment on Council calendar

Washington C.H. City Council members will consider a resolution confirming the appointment of Vincent Lee, 321 Florence St., to the city board of zoning appeals when Council meets in regular session tonight in the Carnegie Public Library.

City Manager George H. Shapter appointed Lee to the unexpired term ending April 30 and to the full term ending April 30, 1980. Council must now either approve or disapprove the appointment to the zoning board vacancy.

An ordinance amending the zoning map of the city from residential to business for a building at 220 N. Fayette Street will be placed on its second reading. The building will house the Lafayette Agency, Inc., when the ordinance is approved.

The meeting will be held in the basement of the library at 7:30 p.m. This will be the second meeting held at the new site. City Council had been meeting at the Fraternal Order of Police building on N. Fayette Street until last month when heating problems forced a move.

Persons wishing to attend the meeting should enter the library through the North Street entrance and walk through the children's book section to the meeting room.

There is an entrance to the meeting room on East Street, but it will remain locked until milder temperatures prevail.

Smoke reports checked

The Washington C.H. Fire Department responded to two smoke reports Tuesday. There was no fire discovered in either report.

At 9:45 a.m., firemen were called to the Howard Gray residence, 331 N. Main St. Firemen found smoke coming from mortar joints of the chimney causing the eaves to appear to be on fire.

At 10:32 a.m., firemen were called to an apartment building at 113 W. Court St. on a report that the three-story building's roof was on fire. The building is owned by Joe J. Loudner, 629 Fairway Drive.

Firemen discovered that the smoke rolling off the roof was caused by a faulty chimney. The flue was reportedly covered with mortar and tin.

Firemen were also called to a home at 432 Delaware St. to make a carbon monoxide check. Paul Simmons, who resides in the house, was advised to get a new heating unit installed when the check proved positive.

The house is owned by Elizabeth Gray, 629 Gibbs Ave.

Firearms charge lodged by police

A 31-year-old Mount Sterling man was arrested for improper handling of firearms in a motor vehicle by Washington C.H. Police Capt. Dennis Brown Tuesday afternoon.

Brown reported that he discovered a 22 caliber revolver on the dashboard of a truck which was blocking an alley in the 800 block S. Main St.

William H. Caldwell was found to be the owner of the truck and the revolver, which was loaded. Capt. Brown placed Caldwell under arrest and confiscated the revolver for evidence.

Gas use figures listed by DP&L

The Dayton Power and Light Co. reportedly Wednesday there are 39 days left in the winter heating season and the natural gas supply will last 32 days.

The temperature Tuesday was 11 degrees below normal, DP&L said, and customers used 317,000 mcf of natural gas. A total of 2,158,000 mcf of gas have been used in the past week.

Ferguson notes medical payments

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson reports that $465,732.28 was paid in January to providers of medical services to needy children.

Reimbursement is made twice weekly to those who take care of handicapped children.

Some of the larger payments included Cincinnati Childrens Hospital, $71,271; University Hospital of Cleveland, $66,900; Akron Childrens Hospital, $54,905; Columbus Childrens Hospital, $50,118; Dayton Childrens

Hospital, $6,770; Toledo Medical College, $2,481, and Ohio State University Hospital, $880.

When in 1820 a young physician in Cincinnati, Ohio asked to marry the daughter of Gen. Duncan McArthur, that old pioneer told him that the practice of medicine in Ohio was "generally a poor and miserable business" which seldom afforded "the means of a decent support to those who followed it."

DIVORCE SUIT FILED

Flint A. Fitzpatrick, Milledgeville, has filed suit for divorce in Common Pleas Court from Nancy J. Fitzpatrick, Milledgeville, on grounds of neglect of duty and cruelty. Married in Clintwood, Va., May 3, 1974, the couple has one minor child. The plaintiff asks a divorce, reasonable division of property, and visitation with the minor child.

JURY TRIAL ASKED

A Jeffersonville man has requested a jury trial in Fayette County Common Pleas Court in efforts to gain benefits through the Workmen's Compensation Law.

Cary J. Prater contends that he was injured while working for Reilco Project 20 of Jeffersonville in 1974.

Previous claims with the Ohio Bureau of Workmen's Compensation and the Ohio Industrial Commission have been denied, because there is no proof that Prater was employed by the Jeffersonville firm at the time of the accident, according to the petition.

Letters from R-H readers

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

I would like to take this means to express my appreciation to the newly formed Life Squad who is presently serving our community by providing emergency ambulance service.

It gave me a feeling of security and comfort to record the new telephone number 335-6000 where we could call to get emergency help.

I wonder if the average citizen realizes the many hours of donated time and the personal sacrifices, that these men and women have made in order to make our community a safer more pleasant place to live.

While we all cannot donate our services to the squad we can at least give them our moral and financial support. I believe that Mr. John Lachat is the treasurer of this organization and would accept our contributions.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

I would like to say thank-you to the following people: Mr. Raldon Smith for his fine cooperation in helping in communications, Sheriff Donald Thompson and his staff for transporting nurses, The Air National Guard for flying in nurses, the E.M.T.'s for volunteering their services, Marcie Rittenhouse who ran errands and answered the phones for us, Clyde Creamer and Mr. John Duff in seeing some of nurses back to their homes, the many people in our community who called and volunteered their homes and services, to the staff of Fayette Memorial Hospital who have lived here since last Friday and worked around the clock in order to keep our nursing units covered. The combined efforts of all are greatly appreciated.

A special thank-you to God who has made us all realize and appreciate His special gifts which we seem to take for granted each day. Without Him nothing would be possible.

Again, my heartfelt thank-you.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

We employees of the Ohio Department of Transportation would like to take this opportunity to thank all the people who helped us during this recent snow crisis. While we were working around the clock, our neighbors (the Hershel Maxie's and the Bill Marshall's) made sure we had plenty to eat to help us keep going. Strangers actually invited us into their homes.

Thanks to all the farmers and others who used their own equipment, volunteered their time, and helped us alot.

Thanks, too, to the people who called by phone to thank us for all the work we were doing. It's nice to know when you're appreciated.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

I have been reading letters to the Editor about different things but none seem to touch on economy. A few months ago sugar was reported to be scarce and doubled or nearly tripled in price. Also gasoline was so hard to get people were in line for blocks trying to fill up. Now we are having a gas war.

We are told to cut our thermostats back to save fuel. When we get our gas and light bills not only has the cost tripled but the usage also double. I guess with all the snow and ice, we will be having a water shortage next. With 1 or 2 in a family and have 1 bathroom and being at work all day, I am wondering how your water and sewage bill could be as high as a family with 3 or 4 having 2 bathrooms and at home all day. True we live in a great country but how long is God going to let us continue ripping one another off. With this crucial period I believe he is trying to tell us something now.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

During the recent weather emergency, especially the last week in January, many organizations helped people in the community tremendously and we are all grateful. However, we feel that the coverage WCHO Radio provided regarding road conditions, changes in store hours, and other related news was very inadequate. Announcements every half hour simply were not enough, and even then the information supplied on both AM and FM frequencies was sketchy and incomplete. We found that we had to listen to stations from surrounding towns in order to find out what was going on in our own area.

We personally did not find the music which was broadcast between announcements to be either helpful or entertaining, and we seriously wonder if most of the music selected is what the majority of listeners enjoy. Perhaps a survey of area residents would be helpful in obtaining opinions and suggestions of other listeners to WCHO.

We regret having to complain but felt it was our duty as citizens of the community to express our thoughts in the editorial section of the newspaper as well as in a letter to WCHO Radio personnel in hopes of hearing some improvements in their programming.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

To the many wonderful people in the Washington C.H. area, I hope we have all seen the worst of our severe weather problems, and I know that there is still a lot of work to be done.

I sit here today thinking of how many people were helped at some time or other. Maybe I should try to think of the number that weren't, for I'm sure that the number is quite smaller.

I wonder also how many hours the National Guard and sheriff's deputies put it. How many had sleepless nights and done without meals? How many worried wives and children there were at home while their husbands and fathers were out helping others.

I grew up in Michigan and faced these problems often. It's never easy, there is always hardships of some kind or other on almost everyone. But when everyone unites and helps each other, wonderful and warm things begin to happen. Its such a great thing to offer a simple cup of coffee and a warm home to someone who's been out in the cold. It makes you both feel good.

I must say I am more than proud of Fayette County's people. And feel each one who offered their help to a needy person will have a very special blessing.

I wonder how many neighbors who haven't talked to each other for years that this brought together.

Our Lord wants us to express love to others. I doubt that he's disappointed in us. For the word is not a stranger among the Fayette County people. How proud we should be.

It's been rough going and may not be over yet. But as we go on and face one day at a time let us look to the bright side. Some could have been hurt a lot more than they were. We could have lost some loved ones. We have a lot of people to thank, the list is endless. But most of all while we're handing out thanks to the well deserved, don't forget to thank our Father, he's done his part for us too.

My husband helped a lot of people and I'll leave you with something he's told them all—Next time you see someone who needs help, remember someone cared and helped you.

Leech hunt in works

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Bored? Done it all? An expedition to the jungles of French Guiana to stalk the world's biggest leech might be just the thing to perk you up.

For $1,375 you can join a band of adventurers who will brave snake-infested swamps to track the 18-inch bloodsuckers to their lair. The invitation is from a University of California biologist who has been a leechfancier from childhood.

Roy Sawyer plans to bring back a batch of the creatures and breed them. Haementeria ghilianii, as these particular leeches are known, are Sawyer's candidates to become a standard laboratory research animal for the study of how the nervous system works.

They may also be used to replace the Hirudo leech which is a source of an anticoagulant called hirudin, used to treat heart patients and people undergoing surgery.

Gallipolis was founded Oct. 17, 1790, by a band of 500 French artisans and craftsmen.—AP

Court House holds on for 71-68 win

MTHS in ashes after WCH-MT barnburner

By MARK REA
Record-Herald Sports Editor
EBER, Ohio — Miami Trace High School lies in ashes today after last night's edition of the Washington C.H. - Miami Trace rivalry.

The Lions and Panthers set fire to the gym as Court House pulled out a frenzied 71-68 win. The win had the Panther fans calling foul as the Lions took 20 free throws to only 13 for Trace.

The game began very unlike the finish. The Panthers took an early lead of nine points at 15-6. Bill Hanners and Art Schlichter scored the first six points of the game to give Trace a quick 6-0 lead.

Court House's John Denen finally scored a basket for the Lions but Schlichter and Glen Cobb answered that with four more points to make the score 10-2.

Washington got four points to get back to within six but Dan Gifford and Tom Richardson collected five to set Trace on top of Fayette County with a 15-6 lead.

After that nine-point deficit, the Lions kindled the first spark by outscoring the Panthers 8-1 for the remainder of the period. After an impressive start by the Panthers, their lead was only 16-14.

By the time the second quarter was underway, the fire was spreading throughout the gym. The first two baskets in the period belonged to Washington's Tom Dean and Doug Stewart.

From there, the game was a shootout as the teams traded points. Neither team could take more than a two-point advantage until the Lions broke through with five straight points to take a 33-26 lead.

Outscoring Washington the rest of the way, the Panthers were trailing by only four at halftime, 33-29.

Stewart was the main spark for the Lions in the first half. The seldom-used junior scored nine points on tip-ins and lay-ups Dean and Sam McClendon also paced Washington in the first half with eight points each.

Schlichter led the Panthers in the first half with eight points while four other Panthers had at least four points.

Trace did a good defensive job on Denen in the first half, limiting him to only four points, two on free throws.

The third quarter saw the fire get out of control as the Lions raced to a 10-point lead. Dee Foster and Denen got the ball rolling with two quick baskets at the outset.

But the Panthers would not roll over yet as Hanners and Schlichter combined to get the Panthers back within two at 37-35. That's when the fire got to the roof and if fell in on Trace.

Denen, Dean and Terry Wilson scored eight unanswered points for Court House to take a sudden 45-35 lead. The teams traded points until the end of the quarter with Court House leading 53-43.

That set the stage for the fourth quarter inferno. The quarter started calmly as Washington upped their lead to 13 points. Trace began the comeback trail with five points from their junior duo, Hanners and Schlichter.

Their trail was bumpy for a while as reserve coach Mike Henry was called for a technical foul and was subsequently ejected from the playing surface. Later in the period, Henry was slapped with another technical when he did not completely leave the playing floor.

Meanwhile, Trace was simply spinning its wheels trying to come back as they ended up behind by 10 with three minutes remaining. That was when the fire could not be contained.

The Panthers outscored the Lions 10-2 in a two minute stretch to make the game a thriller at 68-66. Denen put the fire out for the Lions as he drew three straight fouls and iced the game with his final free throw, one that made the score 71-66 with 10 seconds remaining.

Trace scored another bucket in the time remaining and then ran for cover as the fiery walls came tumbling down on a 71-68 Court House win.

The junior combo of Schlichter and Denen led their respective teams in points. Schlichter and Denen took honors for the game with 23 points.

Two other Panthers hit double figures. Gifford and Hanners scored 15 and 12 points, respectively.

The Lions also had two more players in double digits as Dean collected 13 points and McClendon added another 10.

Denen took honors in the rebounding department with 16 followed by Hanners with 12, Wilson with 11, and Schlichter and Cobb with 10 each.

The teams were almost even in the floor shooting as Court House made 31 of 65 shots for 48 per cent and Trace made 30 of 71 for 42 per cent.

The win for Washington keeps them in the hunt for the SCOL crown behind Wilmington. Their record is now 9-1 overall and 6-1 in the league.

The loss sent the Panthers reeling to a 4-7 record overall and a 3-4 card in the SCOL.

The Panthers play again Saturday night as they host the Hillsboro Indians.

Washington C.H. plays two more games this weekend as they also host Hillsboro this Friday and then travel to Madison Plains on Saturday.

MEETING OF THE GIANTS — Bill Hanners of Miami Trace and John Denen of Washington C.H. square off under the basket in last night's SCOL action. Both are 6-foot-3 and both scored in double figures last night. Washington C.H. won the game, 71-68.

Record-Herald Sports Writer
EBER, OHIO — "I am speechless!" Those three words were just about all the words reserve basketball coach Rick Crooks could say moments after he watched one of his Washington C.H. Blue Lion players hit a high arching 25 foot jump shot. The shot gave the lions a come-from-behind victory over the Miami Trace Panthers last night 54-52.

Steve Pritchett, a 6-foot-1 sophomore, hit a high arching shot with only two seconds showing on the clock to extinguish any thoughts the Panthers may have had of pulling an upset. But, before Pritchett's heroics, the game was one of those see-saw battles that kept the fans on the edges of their seats.

In the first quarter both teams played conservatively as they traded baskets and the lead several times. At the end of the first period of play the Blue Lions were holding a slim one point lead at 13-12.

The start of the second quarter saw both teams loosen up and as a result they both had more success at putting points on the board. By the halftime buzzer Washington had managed to increase their lead over the home team, Miami Trace, 29-26.

Scott Grooms and Todd Delay led the charge for the rejuvenated Panthers in the third quarter as they outscored the Lions 18-11 to take the lead 44-40 at the end of the period. Grooms hit for seven points and Delay had five as the Panthers overtook the Lions.

But the Lions were not out of the game totally. Two key baskets by Dennis Dunn kept the Lions close, and another shot by Pritchett at the buzzer of the third quarter pulled the Lions to within four of the Panthers.

It looked as if the Panthers may be able to hold onto their four point lead through the fourth period and come off with the win. But two quick buckets by Pritchett, who seemed to be the clog in the Panther gears all night, pulled the Lions from a four point deficit into a tie at 48 apiece.

Then with the score 50-48 in favor of the Panthers, Tom Bath and Pritchett both sank both shots of a one-and-one situation to give the Lions the lead 52-50. John Persinger then hit a bucket for the Panthers with 1:12 to go to tie the game at 52. The Lions decided to go for the last shot which set the stage for Pritchett's game winning bucket.

"When I called time-out I told my players to go into a four corner stall. And the man that had the ball with ten seconds left was to look for a pick and then shoot it," said Crooks as he told of the play that won the game.

Pritchett was the leading scorer for both teams as he hit for 20 points, 12 of them in the second half. Bath and Dunn were the only other two Lions in double figures as they hit for 14 and 10 points, respectively.

Delay was the leading scorer for the Panthers as he hit for 18 while Persinger had 15. Scott Grooms chipped in 13 for the Panther cause.

The Lions are now 7-2 overall and remain at least tied for first place in the SCOL with a 6-1 record. The Panthers league record drops to 3-4 and they are now 3-8 overall.

Move A.J.; Janet's here

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — More over A.J. Foyt, Johnny Rutherford, Bobby Unser and all you racing superstars. Janet Guthrie is back for another try at the Indianapolis 500, and this time she has a lot more confidence and a car that's a near cinch to make the starting field.

Car owner Rolla Vollstedt shocked the racing world last year by giving a ride to the 39-year-old physicist, the first woman to enter the world's richest and most prestigious auto race.

And he revealed his latest coup on Tuesday, announcing the purchase of the Lindsey Hopkins Lightning which Roger McCluskey drove at 198.7 miles an hour in tire tests at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway last October.

It is the fastest machine ever run at Indy under present U.S. Auto Club technical restrictions on manifold pressure.

Vollstedt, Miss Guthrie and her teammate, veteran Dick Simon, all disappointed in her failure to qualify here a year ago, are determined to make her competitive in the once male-dominated realm of championship racing.

"Last year, we had our share of troubles," Vollstedt told a news luncheon Tuesday. "We arrived at Indianapolis not as well prepared as we should have been. It wasn't until the month (of May) was over that we got the problems solved, and by that time our equipment was worn out."

Miss Guthrie was the first woman to enter the Indy 500, the first to pass the mandatory driving test for rookies and the first to drive around the Speedway's 2½-mile oval in practice.

She is no militant feminist, but she credits the women's liberation movement with creating an atmosphere that makes a female race driver acceptable at a track where until a few years ago women were not even allowed in the pit area.

She is a veteran of 13 years in road racing, but was a virtual unknown at Indianapolis when she arrived here last year amid the greatest flurry of publicity in Indy history.

Tom Egan, former major league catcher, is the new manager of the Wausau, Wis., baseball team in the Class A Midwest League.

Turnovers kill fourth-ranked Deacons

Clemson slices Wake Forest ACC lead with 70-66 upset thriller

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — "The fact that we were playing at home didn't seem to be an advantage," said Wake Forest Coach Carl Tacy after his fourth-ranked Deacons were upset 70-66 by No. 15 Clemson in an Atlantic Coast Conference basketball game.

"We didn't really deserve any better fate," Tacy said. "We didn't put the ball in as we normally do on the fast break and 22 turnovers is just not our ball club. We just didn't play with intensity."

Clemson, now 6-2 in the ACC and 18-3 over-all, didn't fare much better in the turnover department with 21 Tuesday night.

Wake Forest, 7-2 in the league and 18-3 over-all, managed to cling to first place in the league as the second-place Tigers inched closer with less than a month to go before the season ends.

"Now, our task is to prepare for the final days of the season," said Tacy. "We can't take long to think about this game."

Clemson coach Bill Foster was pleased with the way his team repeatedly held off Deacon charges in the second half.

"Their hustle and defense was good in the second half. Wake Forest is as good a manto-man team as there is in the league, but we like to substitute," he said.

As Clemson crept to within a half-game of the league-leading Deacons, Foster said: "The conference race is wide open. Five teams can win it."

Wilmington takes ninth straight; Hillsboro, McClain gain wins

Wilmington won its ninth game in a row this season as they traveled to East Clinton and came back with a 65-56 win. The number fifty-six seemed to be a losing number all night last night as Greenfield McClain whipped Leesburg Fairfield 58-56 and Hillsboro trounced Madison Plains 71-56.

The Hurricane came back from a 17-14 first quarter deficit to breeze to a nine point win.

Tony Berlin paced the Hurricane with 23 points, 13 on free throws. Gary Williams also chipped in with 12 points while Bob Williams scored 11.

East Clinton scored a minor victory as they held David Nared to under 10 points for the first time this season.

McClain held off Leesburg in a game much like the Washington C.H.-Miami

Trace affair.

Greenfield, like Wilmington, was behind 17-14 in the first quarter but fought back to tie at halftime. They were trailing again by the end of the third quarter, but came back near the end of the game to notch their fifth victory against seven defeats.

Chuck Cole and Eric Dunson once again led the Tigers in scoring with 17 and 11 points, respectively. Kevin Adams led the Lions with 15 points.

Hillsboro finally broke out against someone and it was against the floundering Madison Plains Eagles. The Indians had blown the game open by the end of the third quarter and relaxed in the fourth to celebrate their second league win.

Four Indians dented the double

figure bracket led by Tim Fuller's 23 points. Gary Coffman added 19 points while Gary Larimer scored 14 and Randy Sanders had 11.

Gary Self, Doug Sifrit, and Tom Wittich scored in double digits for Plains with 15, 12, and 10 points.

Braves stun 76'ers, 99-89

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Basketball returned to snowbound Buffalo Tuesday night, but with a new wrinkle — some sparkling defense by the hometown Braves.

Center George Johnson, obtained from Golden State seven games ago, pulled down 17 rebounds and blocked seven shots to help the Braves stun the Philadelphia 76ers 99-89 in the first National Basketball Association game in Buffalo in nearly two weeks.

"That's the best defensive game I've seen a center play for Buffalo," said Braves Coach Bob MacKinnon. "This is why we got him. He's a great shot-blocker."

The Braves' defense has been less than devastating this season, ranking 20th in the 22-team NBA. Johnson's presence could change that.

"I've always respected his shot-blocking and his rebounding," said 76ers Coach Gene Shue. "He had a good game. I thought Buffalo played good defense."

Elsewhere in the NBA Tuesday night, the New York Knicks whipped the Los Angeles Lakers 125-107, the Phoenix Suns stopped the Atlanta Hawks 117-104, the Denver Nuggets downed the Portland Trail Blazers 119-111, the Chicago Bulls beat the San Antonio Spurs 111-89.

Miller looking for money in Hope chest

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Johnny Miller, who normally is looking for his second to fourth victory of the season at this time of the year, is looking for his second payday in the $200,000 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic that got underway today.

"It's a matter of momentum," said Miller, who has won the last two Hope Classics but is involved in his poorest start in years. He has missed the cut twice, withdrawn and finished 41st in four earlier tournaments this season and has won only $680.

"I'm not able to generate anything. It seems like I get off to a bad start every time, and I'm not able to get anything going. I haven't had any momentum."

"I'm not putting well at all — lousy in fact. But I don't want to use that as an excuse. I just need some momentum."

And he had his work cut out for him in the first round of this unique, 90-hole, five-day event. It's often one of the toughest for the pros. Their concentration suffers from the constant clicking of cameras. They're looking at 6½-hour rounds, which destroys timing, and three different amateur partners each day.

Miller's distractions are even greater. His amateur partners today were host Bob Hope, Sammy Davis Jr., and an 18handicapper named Gerald R. Ford.

Ford, who played two rounds with Arnold Palmer three weeks ago in the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am immediately after leaving the office of President, is scheduled to compete four days here with Miller, Lee Elder, PGA champ Dave Stockton and Billy Casper as his pro companions.

The format for this, the longest event the touring pros play all season, calls for them to play one round on each of four courses, each day with a different set of amateur partners. After 72 holes, the pros only compete for the $40,000 first prize at La Quinta. The other courses are Bermuda Dunes, Indian Wells and Tamarisk.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

THE COMPACT DIMENSIONS of this Florida-style retirement home offer 764 square feet of living space plus two porches and a carport. The front and rear screened porches can function as extensions of the large living-dining area. This house, which measures approximately 25 by 35 feet, is designed for a very narrow lot. Plan HA967R by Jan Reiner calls for a slab-on-grade masonry construction. Those wishing further information may write the architect—enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope—at 1000-52nd St. North, St. Petersburg, Fla. 33710.

Stamps In The News

AP Newsfeatures
By SYD KRONISH

Christmas is a feast for stamp collectors.

During the holiday season, nations throughout the world issue a variety of stamps for the occasion. Topical collectors who specialize in this subject have a difficult time keeping up with the multitude of stamps, most of which have a religious theme. A majority of the religious designs are based on paintings by the old masters or art objects dating back many centuries.

Great Britain's set of four stamps for 1976 is based on Christmas scenes from 13th and 14th century embroidery. This medieval embroidery was among the finest of its kind and valued highly throughout Europe. It was known as "Opus Anglicanum" — the English work. The scenes on all four adhesives are from embroideries which are part of the collection at the Victoria and Albert Museum in London.

The 6.5-pence stamp features the Virgin Child from the Clare Chasuble (1272-1294) in the style of the reign of King Henry III. The 8.5-p shows the figure of an angel bearing a crown and has been taken from a pair of panels (1340-1370) found in a chapel in Hampshire. The 11-p depicts an angel appearing to the shepherds. It is from one of three panels (1320-1340), part of the decoration of an ecclesiastical vestment known as an alb, on which are scenes of events in the life of the Virgin Mary. The 13-p illustrates the three kings presenting gifts, taken from the Butler-Bowden Cope (1330-1350) — one of the finest surviving examples of Opus Anglicanum.

Antigua's set of Christmas stamps consists of five designs depicting religious scenes. The 8-cent shows the Annunciation, 10-cent — The Flight to Egypt, 15-cent — The Three Wise Men, 50-cent — The Three Shepherds, and the $1 — Adoration of Kings. Each of the designs appears within a circle. The name "Antigua" is at the top of the stamp and immediately below is the inscription "Christmas 1976." The denomination is at the bottom right.

These Christmas stamps, as well as most of the others being issued at this time of year, can be obtained at your local stamp dealer.

Greenland has issued only one stamp for the Christmas celebration. This stamp, however, does not have a religious theme. It shows sleds resting on the ice under the bright light of the pole star.

According to the Greenland Christmas Stamp Committee in that country, this stamp "is a tribute to the Greenland sled-dog, which with its unfailing good spirits, its staying power, frugality, and hardiness is still of great importance to people and their everyday life in great parts of Greenland." The value on the stamp is 20 ore.

Here are some other interesting Christmas designs. Jamaica's set of three stamps features Belisario prints of "John Canoe Christmas Celebrations." The prints are of local men and women dancers and musicians.

New Hebrides' three stamps are based on religious paintings by masters of the Portuguese school. The designs depict "The Flight into Egypt," "Adoration of the Shepherds," and "Adoration of the Magi."

Malawi has issued an unusual design of a modern-day child lying on a bed of straw. At the top of the stamp is the quotation "And She Brought Forth Her First-Born Son."

Newman Revisits A Deteriorating English Language

A CIVIL TONGUE. By Edwin Newman. Bobbs-Merrill. 207 Pages. $8.95.

Edwin Newman has written another good book about bad writing.

As in his earlier best-selling "Strictly Speaking," Newman carries on his most witty campaign against corruption of the English language. Early on Newman states his thesis: "A civil tongue ... means to me a language that is not bogged down in jargon, not puffed up with false dignity, not studded with trick phrases that have lost their meaning. It is not falsely exciting, is not patronizing, does not conceal the smallness and triteness of ideas by clothing them in language ever more grandiose, does not seek out increasingly complicated constructions, does not weigh us down with the gelatinous verbiage of Washington and the social sciences."

Having made most clear where he stands, Newman then devotes the rest of his book to discussing in just what ways English has become an uncivil tongue and backing up his statements with examples that amuse while they horrify.

Here are two examples selected at random: "Y'know." A friend in Detroit told me he had heard a colleague say, "Y'know, you never know." And, attributed to an American general during the Korean War, "Our firepower will have a tremendous impact on their ground troops, breaking their will in addition to killing them."

No area is immune from Newman's probing into the misuse of language: Sports, government, the military, academia, science, communications, all contribute their horrible examples of English as she, unfortunately, is spoke in contemporary America.

Officers probe six mishaps

Snow drifts still plague drivers

Large drifts of snow along Fayette County roadways are still proving hazardous to motorists.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported that a 1:15 p.m. two-car collision on Tuesday resulted when neither driver could see the other car approaching on the Dill Road because of the drifts.

Deputies reported that Vickie S. Brown, 20, of 821 Maple St. was driving east on the Dill Road and Deborah Blanton, 18, Mount Sterling, was traveling west. The collision occurred when the two cars rounded a curve and were unable to stop in time to avoid the mishap.

Neither driver was injured and no citations were given. The Brown auto was damaged slightly and the Blanton auto received moderate damage.

Five other traffic mishaps were investigated Tuesday and no injuries were reported by area law enforcement agencies.

struck a car driven by Pat E. McGuire, 67, London.

Police officers said that Funk was unable to see the McGuire auto approaching when his view was obstructed. No citation was given.

The Funk auto received slight damage and the McGuire auto was moderately damaged.

11:06 a.m. — Richard L. Andermatt, 28, Chillicothe, told police officers that he was driving in an alley next to police headquarters when he saw a truck driven by James E. Kirkpatrick, 36, of 3651 U.S. 62-NE, stopped in the alley. He applied his brakes, but was unable to stop striking the Kirkpatrick truck.

No citations were given and both vehicles received slight damage.

3:30 p.m. — Kim J. Evans, 413 Lewis St., told police officers that a vehicle struck his car while it was parked in the 200 block of E. Court St. and left the scene. The Evans car was slightly damaged.

10:23 p.m. — Dewey A. Sheidler, 78, of 510 E. Market St., was cited for failure to yield the right of way when his auto reportedly struck a car driven by James L. Gregory, 47, New Holland.

Sheidler was reportedly pulling from a private drive on E. Court Street when the accident occurred.

The Gregory auto was damaged moderately and the Sheidler auto received slight damage.

SHERIFF

TUESDAY, 9:15 a.m. — A car driven by Barbara A. Sears, 41, Jeffersonville, reportedly struck a parked car owned by Beatrice L. Roberts, Rt. 3, Washington C.H., on High Street in Jeffersonville.

The Sears auto was reportedly traveling east on High Street when the driver applied her brakes because another auto was backing from an alley. Her car skidded on the ice-covered street and struck the parked car, according to sheriff's deputies.

The parked car received moderate damage and the Sears car was damaged slightly.

Beef prices stay down

WASHINGTON (AP) — A somewhat larger meat supply than expected a few months ago will tend to hold down cattle prices through mid-year, according to the Agriculture Department.

Choice-grade steer prices on the Omaha market are expected to average $37 to $39 per 100 pounds this quarter and $39 to $41 in the second quarter of 1977, the department's Outlook and Situation Board said Monday.

Last fall experts said that cattle prices might average in the range of $41 to $43 per hundredweight this quarter and $43 to $45 in the second.

"Cattlemen are cutting back beef production," officials said. "But the cyclical buildup in hog numbers may result in 20 per cent more pork during the first half of this year. Larger pork supplies will more than offset any reductions in beef output."

As a result, total red meat output in the first six months of 1977 may be up 4 to 6 per cent from the record volume of the first half of 1976, officials said.

Alcoholic mothers have a substantially higher chance of giving birth to a child with birth defects, says the March of Dimes.

POLICE

TUESDAY — Dewey A. Sheidler, 78, of 510 E. Market St., failure to yield the right of way. William H. Caldwell, 31, Mount Sterling, improper handling of firearms in a motor vehicle.

SHERIFF

TUESDAY — Luckie E. Webb, 27, of 803 Van Deman St., bench warrant for failure to comply with court order.

Clear skies over Ohio early today allowed temperatures to drop to near 10 degrees or below in the north and to the teens in the south.

The coldest reported overnight temperature was 1 degree at both Columbus and Zanesville. Clouds spread into the state during the night and temperatures began rising with most stations in the teens and lower 20s by 5 a.m.

A brisk south to southwest flow will bring in milder air with highs in the 30s this afternoon. After sunset, skies will again become partly cloudy and temperatures will drop into the 20s overnight, near normal for this time of year but mild compared to the past few days.

Three firms ease gas curtailments

By DIANE DUDSON
Associated Press Writer

Many Ohioans laid off work because of energy shortages returned to their jobs today as three Ohio gas companies lifted maintenance level curtailments.

Columbia Gas of Ohio, East Ohio Gas Co. and Cincinnati Gas & Electric stopped severe weather restrictions for some customers.

For Columbia's customers that means industrial and commercial customers using one million cubic feet or more of gas will go back to 85 per cent curtailments while those using at least 200,000 cubic feet of gas will go back to cutbacks of 30 per cent.

"The only firms that will really feel the difference are those at the 200,000 cubic foot level," said William Chaddock, spokesman for Columbia. "Cutbacks of 85 per cent are almost maintenance level."

Chaddock said Columbia is able to relax restrictions because its supplier,

Columbia Gas Transmission Corp., beginning today, no longer is limiting companies to serving only residential and essential needs customers. Columbia officials say the Federal Power Commission ordered Columbia Transmission to impose the restrictions.

The action by East Ohio Gas will put its industrial customers on a 10 per cent curtailment level.

"The move is possible because warmer temperatures have been predicted for February and all East Ohio customers have cooperated in conservation efforts," David Talbott, spokesman for the company, said.

Maintenance level curtailments have been in effect for Columbia since Jan. 31 and for East Ohio since Jan. 17.

Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co. lifted maintenance level curtailments to all customers using 50,000 cubic feet or more of gas, returning them to the 80 per cent curtailment level. Smaller nonresidential users are still at 30 per cent cutback levels, David Altemuehle, of CG&E, said.

Don Speyer, director of community and employee relations at Dayton Power and Light, said that his company reviews the energy situation daily, but it doesn't look like there will be any change in its decision to limit nonresidential customers to plant protection level until March 20.

Chuck Morris of the state's energy crisis center estimates that about 400,000 Ohioans were unemployed Tuesday because of energy shortages. Earlier, the state estimated one million Ohioans were idled.

"We will continue to monitor the situation to see how many will be going back to work Wednesday," he said.

"Besides the action by Columbia and East Ohio, propane and petroleum are becoming more easily attainable and problems are winding down a little."

Ohio gas situation clouded

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The exact status of natural gas supplies for Ohio homes seems as unclear to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio as it must be to laymen. Commissioners on Tuesday expressed frustration with being unable to get sound information.

"Who are we listening to?" asked Commissioner David Sweet. "The governor says we need another 13 million cubic feet while Columbia is saying everything is hunky-dory."

The commissioners' seeming frustration came during a staff report of Tuesday's natural gas supply status. One staff member said that information is changing so fast and is so frequently incorrect that the staff is relying on telephone confirmation by a specific Columbia Gas employee.

"We're no longer relying on Columbia's telegrams to customers as a valid form of information. We're classifying that as rumor," the staffer said.

Another staff member mentioned that it was rumored that Columbia might take an unspecified action.

"Rumor...that's equivalent to a letter from Columbia, isn't it," snapped Sweet.

After the meeting, C. Luther Heckman, commission chairman, added his voice. "I can't figure it out," he said.

He was responding to a question asking why Columbia would lift its short-term extraordinary curtailments Wednesday morning in the face of estimates that as much as 20 billion cubic feet of emergency gas may be needed just to meet the needs of residential and small commercial customers.

That estimate was made Tuesday by Robert S. Ryan, director of the Energy and Resource and Development Agency, as he said the state's original request for federal emergency allocations might have to be doubled or tripled if the cold continues.

Columbia Gas has answered such queries by saying residential conservation and emergency purchases will help the company get through the rest of the heating season.

Meanwhile Tuesday, Columbia Gas wrote Gov. James A. Rhodes and legislative leaders asking for a temporary repeal of House Bill 1213 which the company contends will prevent it from recovering the special costs of emergency gas purchases.

The bill's sponsor, state Rep. Michael Stinziano, D-50 Columbus, contends that is not the case. He says it only prevents the gas company from spreading the cost across the entire consuming sector rather than charging the added cost only to the users of the emergency gas.

PUCO spent more than an hour discussing the effects of the bill with nearly all large gas customers curtailed to maintenance levels.

Nothing was concluded.

Heckman broke the conversation off, saying, "I move we adjourn. I'm tired of gas."

Indianapolis gunman still holds hostage

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A gunman who wired the muzzle of a sawed-off shotgun to the neck of his hostage and said he was "ready to die," remained holed up in an apartment today, awaiting word on his demand for immunity from prosecution.

Anthony Kirtsits, 44, of Indianapolis, stopped negotiating with police who ringed the apartment building Tuesday night and said he would resume talking to them this morning.

Kirtsits, described as having had demolition training in the Army, claimed he had the third-floor apartment rigged with explosives.

Members of the Indianapolis police special weapons and tactics team, garbed in black, maintained a watch during the night in other buildings, and a U.S. Army bomb squad from nearby Ft. Harrison was on hand to disarm any explosive devices that might be found.

About 500 residents of the complex were evacuated.

Earlier, Kirtsits had demanded and received a promise from Meridian Mortgage Co. that he would be released from a $130,000 mortgage loan issued for property on which Kirtsits hoped to build a shopping center. His hostage was Richard O. Hall, 42-year-old son of Meridian's board chairman.

Indiana State Police Col. Alfred Walker said officials had traced 100 pounds of dynamite that Kirtsits had purchased from a well-drilling firm.

"I'm not going to do any time. I'm not going to jail," Kirtsits shouted through the door to police. "I don't want to hurt anybody."

H. Mussey, R-14 Batavia, introduced a bill repealing a 1976 law that prohibited natural gas companies from passing costs of short-term emergency purchases for industries along to residential users.

Mussey, who voted for the bill last year, said he acted Tuesday without knowing that Columbia Gas of Ohio Inc., Ohio's biggest supplier, had requested the legislature to at least suspend the law until Nov. 1.

The request from Marvin E. White, Columbia's board chairman, infuriated Rep. Michael P. Stinziano, D-30 Columbus, sponsor of the 1976 law. He charged the firm was trying to bring pressure in a time of crisis for higher prices, and denied White's assertion that Ohio companies, now seeking federal gas in competition with other states, are hamstrung by the less than year-old statute.

In its only floor action Tuesday, the House approved overwhelmingly a measure that extends until next Jan. 1 the life of a committee which has been studying state programs for the rehabilitation of injured workers. It now goes to the Senate.

Hearings got under way in the House on bills proposing to freeze student fees at state supported universities, and repeal an existing statute that can result in homeowners having to pay twice for home construction and repairs. Both were held for further hearings.

Local center solves problem for mentally retarded adults

By CINDI PEARCE
Record-Herald Staff Writer

For most kids, the age of 16 is synonymous with "driver's license". Likewise, reaching the age of 18 immediately qualifies a person for voting rights and 3.2 beer, as well as usually signifying the end of the high school career. The age of 21, which may well have lost some of its impact in recent years due to the lowering of the voting age, still symbolically, denotes "adulthood".

But for some Fayette County residents, the age of 21 is not a time of emancipation, but a milestone to be dreaded. These people are those who are moderately, severely, profoundly or developmentally retarded. Once they become 21 years of age, they are no longer eligible for schooling at the Fayette Progressive School. The question then is, what now?

For the parents of retarded children, who obviously grow into retarded adults, the Progressive School and its counterparts are Godsend. But what does a parent do with an adult-child who has reached the age of 21 and is no longer eligible to attend school? A solution to this problem has been rendered in this area with the cration of the Fayette Adult Training Center, which provides a sheltered work situation for retarded individuals 16 years of age and over.

William Creamer is a teacher of the vocation-oriented school, which is currently composed of 11 members ranging in age from 17 to 30 (there are no age limits). He said that many of the students at the Progressive School had reached the age of 21 and consequently, an immediate need for some type of continuing education developed.

The Fayette Adult Training Center, which started operations in September, is funded primarily through the Fayette County Board of Mental Retardation.

Creamer explained that if a student wants to continue his or her education after the age of 21, their option is to enroll in the Adult Training Center program. But, at the same time, many 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20-year-olds are admitted into the center if their needs garner the transition from the Progressive School classroom situation.

All of the students entering the program are given a psychological evaluation by a psychologist and a medical evaluation by a physician. Each client's needs are then assessed and individual habilitation plans are prepared by Creamer and his aide, Virginia Jordan. These studies simply tell Creamer and Mrs. Jordan what areas each student needs help in.

If this training center did not exist, all individuals in the area, who had reached the age of 21 and were suffering from some aspect of mental retardation, would be sent home. Period.

Creamer feels that the program is a great asset to the community. "There are very, very few community jobs offered to these people after they finish the Progressive School. Hopefully, now we will be able to bring them up to the level where they can go out and secure employment. However, for the most part, the majority of them will never work outside the sheltered (classroom) situation."

A non-profit organization had to be chartered by the state (which was completed in November) to allow the training center to pay their clients (students) for the work they did. Recently, a contract with CalMar Industries was secured by the training center. The students will inspect 88,000 French Mustard container lids shipped from California. Some of the lids are defective and the unusables must be spotted and separated from the usables. Creamer said that CalMar Industries will be able to avoid a loss of time and profit by contracting with the center to perform the task.

The students in the training center are now putting together ink pens, which Creamer said, "Is a really good money making project because we can pay them about one and one half cents for each pen they put together, which will average out to about $3 an hour for putting pens together. But, we have to find an outlet for the pens."

The class also wrapped parking meter tokens for Washington C.H. merchants. The merchants, in turn, paid the corporation which paid the students for their labor.

"We pay them sub-minimum wages, which we have to pay because they are unable to produce on a level with competitive labor," Creamer remarked. "We had to get a certificate from the Department of Labor, the Wage and Hour Division, in order to pay them salaries. The pay is based on how much they produce. We run time studies on them and see at what level they produce. If they put out one-third the normal rate, then we pay them one-third the normal salary."

For three months prior to Christmas, the class made ceramics under the instruction of Mrs. Jordan, and earned $500 from sales.

The money that the students are earning is the first money most of them have ever had. "It's their money. And we teach them what to do with it. That's one of our areas of education. For the most part, they've never had their own money. It has no meaning for them. On the other hand, they know money is money," Creamer stated.

Creamer, who holds a masters degree in education and taught in the public school system for eight years, said that the students still consider the training center "school" rather than "work". "Right now, they call it school because that's really what it's been to them since we haven't had that much work for them to do yet. That's one reason why we're trying to get out of this

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Senate committee began its probe of Ohio's natural gas companies today with U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum of Cleveland billed as a star witness.

Metzenbaum, a longtime oil and utility company critic, planned to appear before the special panel headed by Sen. Neal F. Zimmers Jr., D-5 Dayton, who said he wants to get at the truth behind the state's critical fuel shortage.

Other energy-related matters came into the forefront Tuesday as the Senate and House returned from a three-week, regular session recess. They faced a pile of yet-to-be-considered bills — more than 280 — and other carried-over business. Neither had major floor action Tuesday. The House passed one bill, extending the statutory limit on a rehabilitation study.

The legislature convened its 1977 session Jan. 3 but broke Jan. 12 for the presidential inauguration. The lawmakers came back into session Jan. 26 and enacted a couple of stopgap energy measures at the request of Gov. James A. Rhodes.

One of those worked out legal snarls resulting from missed school days, and the other allegedly cut about 10 days out of the normal three or four week waiting time for jobless benefits, to help workers laid off as a result of the energy crunch.

Besides the Senate committee, also

Carter-Congress honeymoon tested

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Congressional Democrats are putting their stamp on President Carter's economic stimulus program in ways that could test the president's stated eagerness to prolong his honeymoon with Congress.

Carter held his first full-scale news conference on Tuesday and said he thought he could accept the changes Congress was likely to make in his proposals to create jobs and cut taxes. He also said complaints from congressional leaders about his failure to consult often enough with them were justified.

However, on the changes in his economic program, Carter warned that "if such drastic changes were made in it that would cause me to doubt its effectiveness or its viability, I would, of course, veto it."

As he spoke, Congressional Democrats were putting the finishing touches on a public works jobs bill twice the size of the program Carter requested.

And some of his tax proposals, including a plan for a $50 rebate to most Americans, have run into serious opposition in Capitol Hill.

In the delicate area of arms negotiations with the Soviet Union, there also were signs of future trouble between the new president and Congress in opposition that has emerged to his appointment of Paul Warnke to head the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

Despite opposition from senators who say Warnke would be too willing to compromise with the Russians, his nomination appeared headed for approval by the Senate and he received a new endorsement from Carter.

Much of Carter's nationally broadcast news conference was devoted to repeating his pledges to work closely with Congress and also to trying to calm some of the congressional uneasiness over Warnke.

On Capitol Hill, members of Congress appeared anxious to avoid a rhetorical clash with the president, not yet three weeks in office. Carter's comments on domestic and foreign policy and his pointed mention of his veto power, drew no reaction from members of the House and Senate.

Meanwhile, Senate Public Works Committee chairman Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., said expansion of the jobs program had tentative approval from the White House.

"I have a feeling the administration is favorable to the $4 billion and might be favorable to condensing it into a short period of time," Randolph said.

Carter had asked for $2 billion for next year and another $2 billion for the following year. Randolph was talking about spending the entire $4 billion the first year.

At his news conference, the president

Mrs. Ruby P. Gilmore

CHILICOTHE — Mrs. Ruby P. Gilmore, 62, of Chillicothe, died at 7 a.m. Tuesday in her residence following an extended illness.

Born in Ross County, Mrs. Gilmore was the widow of Leonard Gilmore who died in December 1973.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Donald (Judith) Speirs, Rt. 1, Londonderry, and Mrs. Marvin (Kristi) Ditty, of Chillicothe; a son, David H. Gilmore, Baltimore, Md.; six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Rebe (Mae) Hamilton and Mrs. Larry (Laura) Leeth, both of Washington C.H.; a half-sister, Mrs. Chloee Conrod, of Chillicothe, and two brothers, James Martin, of Florida, and Charles Wilson, of Hillsboro.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Fawcett-Oliver and Glass Funeral Home, Chillicothe, with the Rev. Roger Webb Jr. officiating. Burial will be in Brown's Chapel Cemetery, near Clarksburg.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 6 p.m. tonight.

Mainly About People

The name of a surviving daughter in the Mrs. Dorothy Lee Brewer obituary carried in Tuesday's Record-Herald was incorrect. The name of the surviving daughter should have been Mrs. Marvin (Myra) Cook, of Washington C.H., instead of Mrs. Myra Shaw as was published. The Record-Herald regrets the error.

Gene Mark, 704 Miami Trace Road, owner of the Mark Hybrid Seed Co., was named the Agri Broadcasting Network's "Agri Businessman of the Week" during the week of Jan. 10. The announcement was carried over a 52-station network.

Mrs. Kenneth (Peg) Miller of 601 Gregg St., is a surgical patient in University Hospital, Columbus. She will be in the hospital for one week, and at home two weeks, before returning to her duties as corresponding secretary at Grace United Methodist Church.

Solons eye mechanics liens

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Simplicity apparently is the code word for a new effort under way here to do something about Ohio's embattled mechanics' lien law.

Although the statute sounds like it could be a carburetor adjustment, it is an aging section of the Ohio Code which can and has resulted in a homeowner having to pay twice for home repairs and building materials. Carpenters and masons come under the legal definition of mechanic.

Super slurper may revolutionize didies

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Super slurper, a blend of manmade materials and starch that could revolutionize farming and babies' diapers, is getting thirstier all the time: A scientist says it now absorbs 5,300 times its weight in distilled water.

Three hundred times its weight was all it could manage when developed in 1973 by five chemists for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Research Service.

The substance — patented on behalf of the public — has absorptive qualities vastly superior to anything else known to man, said Dr. William Doane, one of the developers.

"We're still trying to understand why it does what it does, and in doing so we found some new improvements," Doane said.

Super slurper is made by grafting acrylonitrile, the starting material for synthetics used in clothing and carpeting, to starch. The colorless material, which turns water to a gelatin, is known formally as saponified starch-polyacrylonitrile graft copolymer.

USDA program specialist Roger A. Eisenhauer said there is a potential market of 750 million to one billion pounds of slurper a year for agriculture, oil recovery chemicals, pharmaceuticals, cosmetics, towels and other uses.

The absorbent capacity of the compound drops when used in salt solutions such as blood or urine, and developments have not made significant improvements from slurper's original capacity for these solutions, Doane said.

But, he said, super slurper is 20 times more effective than cellulose now used in bandages and disposable diapers. The cellulose holds only about 30 times its weight in blood or urine.

Even more important, he said, is that cellulose subjected to pressure "like a squirming baby, only holds its own weight in urine.... Slurper still holds three-fourths of its capacity (up to 75 times) under such pressure."

The first application for slurper appears to be in agriculture. Inter-Seed Co. of Arcola will begin coating seeds with a patented super slurper process this spring.

Super slurper was patented last year by the USDA and its developers from the Northern Research Laboratory in Peoria were honored Saturday as inventors of the year by the Association for the Advancement of Invention and Innovation, Arlington, Va.

Federal regulators don't know rules?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawyers who deal with federal regulatory agencies say fewer than two-thirds of the commissioners now serving on such panels actually understand the laws they are supposed to enforce, a congressional survey shows.

The lawyers would recommend only about half of the commissioners of eight agencies for reappointment by the president, said the survey, which was released today along with two reports by the Senate Government Operations Committee.

The reports, the first of six planned in a federal regulation study, suggest major overhauls in the handling of regulatory appointments by Congress and the White House to improve the quality of appointees.

Release of the study comes before President Carter has nominated anyone to the 11 regulatory posts he now can fill.

The reports urge stiff new conflict of interest rules to slow the "revolving door" between regulatory agencies and the industries they oversee, lending support to Carter's call for such new laws.

The study found regulatory agencies have done a poor job of enforcing existing conflict-of-interest laws and regulations.

The two reports made 64 recommendations for action by Congress, Carter and the regulatory agencies, including:

—Enactment of a "sunset" law that would abolish each regulatory agency on a given date unless it is specifically renewed by Congress;

—Chopping the Interstate Commerce Commission from 11 to three members, with Carter appointing all three of a reconstituted commission;

—Writing into law the requirement that the various commissions be made up of persons with a variety of backgrounds and who represent a broad range of interests;

—Adoption of new agency regulations to restrict the activities of members of a law firm that has among its members a former agency official or commissioner.

Measles epidemic?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Failure by parents to get their children immunized against measles has health officials worried that an epidemic of the disease may be the next crisis Ohio will face.

The number of measles cases reported during the last year jumped sharply over the year before and current statistics show that many are gambling with the disease by not getting their children vaccinated against it. The Department of Health reports that more than 100,000 children in the state have not been immunized.

"The number of (10-day) measles cases in Ohio in 1976 was 10 times greater than the year before," said Dr. Thomas J. Halpin, chief of the department's preventive medicine bureau. "There were 1,000 cases, compared to 106 in 1975."

"Formal statistics for 1977 haven't been compiled yet, but we believe the number of measles cases will be just as high as in 1976," he said. "It's a highly communicable disease. There were three areas of the state last year where close to 100 cases were reported during a short time."

There are two kinds of measles, Halpin said. The three-day variety, also known as rubella or German measles, is a mild illness that sometimes goes unrecognized, he said. It is the variety that can cause damage to unborn children if a pregnant woman becomes infected, he said.

Hard measles, also called red, or 10-day measles, can cause high fever and a week or more of illness. This is the disease that sometimes causes brain damage or pneumonia for the person who contracts it, Halpin said.

the code section last session only to have it vetoed by the governor, is back this year with an outright repealer.

The fourth-term House member told the House Judiciary Committee on Tuesday that his proposal would mean simply that mechanics' liens no longer would exist for owners of single- or two-unit dwellings.

"We are keeping it simple," said Thompson of his 1 1/2 page bill, which grew to more than 30 pages last time before it reached Gov. James A. Rhodes' desk.

Limiting it to one- or two-unit residences is all that is needed, the Cuyahoga County lawmaker said, since owners of larger units "are sophisticated, they have their own lawyers' anyway."

Under the existing law, a homeowner can be held liable if a general contractor, for instance, fails to pay subcontractors or suppliers of materials on a project—even though the homeowner already has paid the general contractor.

During testimony last session, there was a parade of witnesses who told horror stories of being bilked without recourse under the law.

Judiciary Chairman Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, said Tuesday the prior testimony was so convincing that he doesn't plan to ask for more this year, unless committee members insist.

Thompson's original bill, riddled with loopholes and exceptions by the time it reached Rhodes' desk, was described by nearly everyone involved as one that only further complicated an already complicated law.

Norton R. Webster, representing the Ohio Land Title Association, and Robert McAllister, spokesman for the Ohio Association of Real Estate Board, both urged approval of the Thompson bill.

Webster said his organization, made up of attorneys who do title searches and closings for home purchasers, reexamined its position "and came to the conclusion...that simplicity is what the people want."

McAllister said the proposed law would enable a homeowner to go into court with a receipt showing the job had been paid for "and that would be it, once and for all."

Lehman's committee also heard initial testimony on a bill by Rep. Alan E. Norris, R-27 Westerville, which takes a different approach. Under the bill, governmental authorities issuing building permits would be required to formally notify the homeowner of the possibility of being held in double financial jeopardy under the law as it exists.

Norris appeared alone on behalf of his bill, and conceded at one point that the measure sponsored by the majority Democrat "is likely to be the one that will move."

Both measures will be taken up again Feb. 15.

building (the Fayette Progressive School) and into a vocational atmosphere. I think they would produce more and find it easier to work if elsewhere."

The training center, which is operated on a year-round basis, is filled to capacity at this point. "We can't accommodate any more students in our present facility (one room)," which is another reason for wanting to find a new location.

Creamer found teaching in the public school system (Blanchester, East Clinton), much more frustrating and less satisfying than what he is currently doing. This is my first experience working with the mentally retarded and I'm enjoying it. It's not nearly as frustrating as it is when you're working with someone you know should be able to do the work, but they're not doing it. These people, you don't expect so much from. I was frustrated with high school teaching because I was getting to the point where I didn't feel like I was accomplishing anything.

This job gives me a feeling that I'm doing a little more for the people than I was with the high school students. It just got to the place where I didn't think the high school students cared, for the most part."

Noting that all but two of the students in the training center have been educated at the Progressive School, Creamer said, "Those who attended the Progressive School have longer attention spans, but when you give them work to do you can't force them. They have to want to do it and they will."

Creamer feels that most parents of retarded children have over-protected attitudes toward the child and refuse to let the child grow up both physically and mentally. "The parents need to be educated, too," he remarked.

Members of the Board of directors of the Fayette Adult Training Center are: Thomas Mark, chairman; Andy Anderson, vice chairman; Iona Edwards, secretary; James Ward, treasurer; James Waddle and Frank Sollars. The board was formed in November at which time a charter, as well as a work-activity center certificate, was obtained.

In conclusion Creamer said, "We're continuing the student's education, but also helping him to earn something which he can contribute to his support."

New Army chief to ponder draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's nominee for Secretary of the Army says he will give early priority to military manpower problems, but sees no reason to reinstate the draft.

At his confirmation hearing before the Senate Armed Services Committee on Monday, Clifford L. Alexander acknowledged there is disagreement over whether the all-volunteer Army is working well, or whether a system of involuntary service should be reinstated to help fill widening gaps in the reserves.

Gen. Bernard W. Rogers, the Army chief of staff, testified earlier that the strength of both Army reserve units and the ready reserve, who would be called up in time of war, is declining and will become "critical" over the next two years.

Rogers said that if hostilities erupted and the draft were taken out of "deep freeze," it would take nearly four months to get the first recruits into training and three more months to prepare them to fight.

Alexander said the manpower problems are among "questions of great moment" needing study. But he added that he could not now commit himself to a revival of involuntary service.

"If it were needed for national defense, of course, but I don't see it a need for it now," said Alexander.

The committee voted 6-0 to approve Alexander's nomination and send it to the Senate floor, subject to a poll of absent members by the panel's chairman, Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss. It gave similar approval to Carter's choice for Navy secretary, W. Graham Claytor Jr.

referred to his economic proposals as "a comprehensive package of two-year duration that is well-balanced. There is a limit on how much money you can spend on public works without wasting money."

He didn't mention the plan to double the size of the jobs program or suggest whether such an increase would still keep it within the limit that could be spent without waste.

Carter was asked about a statement by House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., that "some of your top advisers seem to have an attitude of confrontation regarding Congress."

Carter responded that "we have given them cause for some of the complaints inadvertently.... We have not been adequately careful in the initial days in dealing with the Congress."

One panel member, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said the hearing has resolved doubts he had about Alexander's qualifications.

The Pentagon says National Guard and Army reserves fell from 621,000 at the end of the Vietnam war to 557,000 by last June. Rogers said the ready reserve is down to 156,000 from 977,000 in 1972.

Alexander, 43, is a Washington lawyer who was born in Harlem and served as a National Security Council staffer and civil rights adviser in Johnson administration.

He will be the first black secretary of any of the armed services.

Alexander said it was "extremely important" that the Army be able to fulfill its responsibilities in NATO, which some critics contend it cannot now do. He also said he opposes unions for military personnel because "there is no place in the chain of command for collective bargaining."

Claytor, 64, skipped three ships during World War II, but he comes to the Pentagon from the railroad business. He was president and board chairman of the Southern Railway Co. and is credited with keeping the line on solid financial footing.

Population crisis easing

Not many years ago there was note of almost frantic urgency in demographers' warnings about what one of their number aptly dubbed the population explosion. The experts warned that unchecked growth threatened the world with dire consequences - not only widespread starvation as rising numbers out-paced food production, but overcrowding, insatiable demand for limited natural resources, and intolerable pressures on a wide range of human institutions.

Lately the population experts have noted heartening signs that the rate of growth is slowing down. The danger is far from being over, but there is some basis for hope that the worst of it can be averted.

This does not mean that the demographers were wrong, or that their warnings of a few years ago were exaggerated. What it means, in essence, is that their warnings have begun to be heeded by a globally significant degree. The response, in particular the growing use of contraceptives in underdeveloped countries, has greatly lessened the threat of runaway over-population.

In 1965 the world birth rate stood at 34 per 1,000 people. A report by the Population Reference Bureau notes that by 1974 it had declined to 30, and says that it may drop to 20 per 1,000 within a decade. The human race, it appears, may yet surmount what once loomed as its gravest problem.

THESE DAYS....By John Chamberlain

Who was responsible for evasion?

Gen. Lew Walt, the former assistant commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps and a senior member of President Ford's Clemency Board, has expressed his outraged convictions about Jimmy Carter's blanket pardon of the Vietnam War draft evaders. Writing for Penthouse magazine, the general predicts that the amnesty will live to haunt the country the next time it happens to need a selective service program to survive a more than ordinary crisis.

The former Marine commander, of course, is right. Unfortunately, a far more dangerous precedent was created during the Vietnam years by a government that was willing to start a war which it had no intention of fighting to an effective finish. Gen. Walt himself, while working for the Clemency Board, actually supported clemency for "idealistic young men with reasoned personal convictions" or for "genuinely conscientious objectors on

What's missing from the general's list is a willingness to consider, under a separate heading, the draft evader who had the intelligence to realize that he was about to be inducted into the armed forces by an Administration that was prepared to send young flesh into a never-ending meat-chopper with no plan for eliminating the enemy's geographical base in North Vietnam.

Try as I may, I find it hard to condemn a person for a refusal to be killed for no demonstrably reasonable end. True enough, you can't run a country by letting individuals decide for themselves what laws they will obey and what laws they will resist. But when the administrators of the draft law decided to enforce it for no patriotic purpose worthy of the name, draft evasion became an understandable response. No sane human being wants to be considered first cousin to a stuck pig.

What was missing from Jimmy Carter's pardon statement was a condemnation of the so-called best and brightest who ran the Vietnamese meat-chopper for all those years of witless struggle. Louis A. Fanning, a former Army intelligence analyst who teaches history in the State University of New York at Farmingdale, has written a powerful indictment of both the Executive and the Congress for letting South Vietnam go down the drain. He calls his book "Betrayal in Vietnam."

I'm not so sure the title is right. "Stupidity in Vietnam" might have been a more accurate assessment. But the Fanning facts can hardly be controverted: We had a government that was willing to start something it lacked the stamina and brains to finish.

The "best and the brightest" included a lot of senators who, eventually, turned against the war which their permissiveness let President Lyndon Johnson start under the Congressional immunity of the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution. Prof. Fanning's quotations, taken from the record, are lethal.

In 1965, Sen Edward Kennedy said we had a commitment to defend freedom in Southeast Asia because it was "our heritage, our destiny." In the same year Sen George McGovern remarked that he hoped "that we would be prepared" to fight in Vietnam "rather than surrender the area to Communism." Sen. Fred Harris, the Oklahoma populist, said, oracularly, that the Vietnam War was "not a civil war... the security of the United States is in jeopardy here." And Sen. Birch Bayh insisted that "if we are to turn tail and run, the entire Southeast Asia area... would come under Communist domination."

If the senators thought this way, it was up to them to vote the money to carry the war to the enemy's base in North Vietnam and to put the Red Chinese on notice that the Bomb would await them if they intervened. This the senators refused to do.

President Johnson, with an utter obliviousness to the history of warfare, thought he could fight on a static line, which has always been a sure recipe for disaster. When Nixon assumed office, it was too late to do much to turn things around on the battle field without things having on the U.S. home front.

You see, the kids had made the relevant deduction from the behavior of Washington. They had voted with their Canada-bound feet against being slaughtered for nothing.

Draft dodging is not something to be commended. But the greater disgrace is to start a war with no real plan for victory.

Mail-order religion now big business

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ever have a yen to preach the gospel? You can become a minister for $3 or an archbishop for $8 by applying to a mail-order ordination company.

Postal officials say they can't stop the sale of unearned religious titles because of constitutional guarantees of freedom of religion.

Federal law prohibits using the mail for a misrepresentation scheme and the Postal Service regularly uses this law to shut down "diploma mill" operations that sell college degrees through the mail.

"But there is very little we can do about mail-order ordination. If these outfits didn't have religious trappings we would move against them immediately," Postal Service attorney Thomas Ziebarth said.

In the absence of government action, mail-order religion is becoming an increasingly large business, with an estimated 100 operators now selling ordination papers or religious degrees.

These operators usually work out of their homes. They usually ask no questions about an applicant's religious beliefs before declaring him a minister, authorized to preach, marry couples and often ordain more ministers. All the operators ask for is an "offering."

Besides whatever spiritual blessings ordination may bring, some mail-order ministers use their status for tax breaks.

In a recent tax protest in Harderburgh, N.Y., where much land is owned by church or other non-profit groups, some 118 of the town's 236 residents enrolled as ministers in the Universal Life Church. The local assessor took them off the tax rolls.

The Universal Life Church was one of the first mail-order churches, founded in 1959 by Kirby J. Hensley in his Modesto, Calif., home.

Ziebarth said the church will send you a card identifying you as an ordained minister for the asking. Afterwards, you can obtain various degrees, including an honorary Doctor of Divinity "for a minimum offering of $20."

The church's literature says, "The Universal Life Church has no traditional doctrine. We as an organization only believe in that which is right. Each individual has the privilege and responsibility to determine what is right."

The Mother Earth Church of Sacramento, Calif., will send you ordination papers for a "requested offering" of $3 plus postage and handling. For $8, you can become an honorary archbishop or any title you choose.

Ziebarth says court decisions have upheld mail-order churches.

Leesburg, Highland County, was settled by Quakers and named for the Lee family of Virginia. Giant earth-moving machines manufactured in Marion, Ohio, helped dig the Panama Canal and Boulder Dam. Such huge shovels are still manufactured there. — AP

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, and the formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: A GREAT MANY PEOPLE THINK THEY ARE THINKING WHEN THEY ARE REALLY REARRANGING THEIR PREJUDICES. — EDWARD R. MURROW

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Stop competing, start improving

DEAR ABBY: I am jealous of my younger sister. She's 16 and I'm 18. She's prettier than I am and has a great figure, and I'm too fat. She's also smarter than I am.

She even has more personality and character than I have. (She's an extrovert and I'm an introvert.)

She has lots of friends and I don't have any. How can I get over feeling so jealous?

JEALOUS
DEAR JEALOUS: It's apparent that you have a very low opinion of yourself. First, quit competing with your sister and do the most with what you have. You can improve your appearance by diet and exercise, and by trying to look as good as you can. Everyone can't be beautiful, but anyone can be attractive and well-groomed.

You can develop a more appealing personality by getting out of your shell and showing a genuine interest in others. Improve your character by listening to your conscience and acting accordingly.

Pray for the strength and determination to carry out the above self-improvement program, and you'll have nothing to be jealous about. Write again in six months and let me know how you're doing. I care.

DEAR ABBY: Last week I got a call from a man named Micky, asking me to tell my husband to stay away from his wife, Carol. He said a friend of my husband's had tipped him off.

When I asked my husband about it, he denied everything and said he didn't even know a "Carol."

A few nights later the same man called to say that his wife had confessed to having an affair with my husband. She said it was the first time she ever did anything like that, and she promised never to see my husband again.

Again I spoke to my husband and again he denied everything. He said someone must be playing a joke on me. Well, my husband as stepped out on me in the past, but the last time I caught him he put his hand on the Bible and swore he'd never do it again.

I don't know who to believe. This Micky sounded very sincere and said he wanted to keep his marriage together because they have small children.

Abby, I have to get to the bottom of this. How do I go about it? Are lie detector machines available to rent? Have you any advice?

NEEDS TO KNOW
DEAR NEEDS: If you COULD rent a lie detector machine (which is unlikely; I'd advise you to skip it. Better get the Bible out and ask your husband to renew his promise.

DEAR ABBY: I'm dating this girl I care for a lot, and she claims it's mutual, but here's the problem: She smokes and I don't, and her smoking really bugs me.

She promised she'd stop smoking if I grew a mustache. Well, I grew one, but she's still smoking.

Please tell me how to deal with this annoying situation.

TOM IN FLUSHING, N.Y.
DEAR TOM: You could resign yourself to the fact that: (a) your girl's promises are about as permanent as smoke; (b) she's hooked and won't quit for you or anybody else.

Or you could get rid of the mustache AND the girl.

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU: St. Valentine's Day is just around the corner, so be a sweetheart and take a shut-in out for a drive, invite a "single" over to relieve his (or her) loneliness or send someone you like a funny card, some flowers or a little gift. Or call someone you love and say, "Hey, I love you!"

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Wednesday, Feb. 9, the 40th day of 1977. There are 325 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1825, the House of Representatives elected John Quincy Adams President after an election in which none of the candidates received an electoral majority.

On this date: In 1718, French colonists arrived in Louisiana.

In 1773, William Harrison, the ninth American President, was born in Charles City County, Va.

In 1942, the former French liner "Normandie" burned and capsized at a New York pier as it was being outfitted as a troop transport.

Ten years ago: Secretary of State Dean Rusk rejected North Vietnam's call for an unconditional halt to U.S. bombing.

Five years ago: President Richard Nixon said the world was closer to a stable peace because his administration was dealing with what he called the "opportunities of tomorrow."

One year ago: Patricia Hearst testified at her trial that she took part in a bank robbery only because she was threatened with death.

Today's birthdays: Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk is 68. Sportsman Bill Veck is 63.

Thought for today: Education is the ability to listen to almost anything without losing your temper or your self-confidence. — Poet Robert Frost.

SECOND STRAIGHT AWARD — Mrs. Wanda Taylor, left, chairman of the Fayette County unit of the American Cancer Society's "Send A Mouse to College" project, receives an award from Mrs. Dale Panovich, northwest Ohio area crusade coordinator, for the county's high per capita participation on the project. The project, which is the only cancer crusade fund-raiser to involve school children, raised $1,000 during the 1976 crusade. This was the highest per capita contribution of counties throughout Ohio. The local cancer society unit also received the award in 1975 when $987 was raised. To participate, children contribute 51 cents apiece which is used in cancer research. The award was presented to the local unit at the Ohio Division Cancer Crusade training conference in Columbus last month.

Pomp and ceremony slashed

WASHINGTON (AP) — When foreign dignitaries visit the White House they'll hear fewer trumpets and view smaller military displays. President Carter has ordered a cutback in "pomp and ceremony."

Presidential aides say the cutback is part of a Carter plan to remove the image of an imperial presidency.

"I don't want to waste my time or theirs. I want to use my time and theirs to maximum advantage," Carter said Monday in explaining why he wants to scale down the ceremonies for foreign visitors.

White House spokesman Rex Granum said Carter wants fewer trumpets sounding and "the enormous military display drastically reduced."

What Carter is taking aim at is the half-hour welcoming ceremonies on the south lawn of the White House.

Those ceremonies have grown in recent years to redcarpet pageants that include an exchange of speeches by the president and the foreign leader, a review of troops and the fanfare of trumpets sounding from a White House balcony.

There have been no decisions yet on what changes will be made in such ceremonies. But Granum said "there will not be the same number of people greeting or the same number of trumpets sounding."

In advance of his first foreign visitors

— Mexican President Jose Lopez Ortillo on Feb. 14 and Canadian President Pierre Elliot Trudeau on Feb. 21 — Carter has asked his White House staff to give him a rundown on ceremonies his presidential predecessors produced.

According to White House historians it was President John F. Kennedy who started the welcoming ceremonies on the South Lawn. But in recent years such ceremonies have involved as many as 378 members of the armed forces, including 14 Army herald-trumpeters, a red-coated marching Marine band and sometimes a fife and drum corps in colonial uniform.

Things were more simple back when Presidents Truman and Eisenhower used to journey to nearby National Airport or to Andrews Air Force Base to welcome arriving heads of state. A military guard of about 60 turned out for the airport ceremonial reviews.

Protocol is pretty much a two-way street and it is highly likely that any Carter ceremonial cutbacks may result in reciprocal treatment — with fewer trumpets blaring their greetings to Carter when he arrives on foreign shores.

Bank manager tells Rotary members

Farm land value rise to continue

Value of Ohio farm land, which has skyrocketed at a rate of almost 60 per cent in the past three years, will continue to increase, Ron Ratliff, manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Washington C.H., told local Rotary Club members Tuesday.

"It does appear land values will continue to increase, but land is good, solid investment," Ratliff said.

Ratliff, a member of the local Rotary Club, said that in 1973-1974 Ohio farm land values increased 25 per cent; in 1974-1975 they jumped 13 per cent, and last year showed a 21 per cent hike.

He cited two factors which have contributed to the constant rise in land values. He said the net farm income in the U.S. has grown from $14 billion annually about 10 years to $29 billion per year at present. He also said that during a 20-year period from 1950 to 1970, over 28 million people moved from farms to urban areas, but that migration trend is now being reversed.

Ratliff also explained some of the operations of the Federal Land Bank Association here.

He said the local office serves farmers in Fayette, Madison and Clinton counties, three of the top agricultural areas in Ohio. He said while Fayette and Clinton counties rank near the top in pork and grain production, Madison County has more large single farm ownership than any county in the state.

The average age of borrowers dealing with the association in 1975 dropped from 42 to 39, which is in direct contrast with popular beliefs. The average family farm is now 800 to 1,000 acres, he said.

In 1975, the local office closed 220 loans totalling $19 million, and in 1976, 189 loans totalling $27 million were closed.

"We had fewer loans, but they're (the farmers) using more money," Ratliff said. He said more money was required due to increased land values and rising equipment costs. The average size per loan last year was $121,000.

Ratliff pointed out that the average land value per acre in Fayette County is $1,400.

The regular weekly luncheon meeting was conducted by club president Dr. George Pommert. Clarence Cooper arranged the program.

Allen Thompson of Miami Trace High School was a student guest.

Ethan Allen and his "Green Mountain Boys" from Vermont captured Crown Point and joined with Benedict Arnold to capture Fort Ticonderoga without a shot, gaining control over Lake Champlain and getting priceless cannon. Won't you observe February as American History Month with the Daughters of the American Revolution?

Visiting Rotarians were James Greenfield; Dan Drake and Darrell Ganger, Jack Schluep, Dr. Walter French, of Wilmington, and M.J. Felson and Rene Osterberger, all of Peachtree, of Wadsworth.

Mrs. Susan Link is candidate for Young Career Woman

The Business and Professional Women's Club of Washington C.H. has chosen Mrs. Susan F. Link to be the candidate for the honor of "Young Career Woman of 1977."

MRS. SUSAN LINK

District judging will be Feb. 21 in the Ye Olde Inn at West Union. If Mrs. Link is successful here, she will go to the State level for competition with the representatives from other districts in the state.

Mrs. Link, a graduate of Sunbury Big Walnut High School, attended Ohio Wesleyan University before starting a career with The Ohio Bell Telephone Company in Columbus. Beginning as a Service Representative in July, 1969, she was soon promoted as a Training Instructor. She then joined her husband, Michael, who was serving in the Military in Oakland, Calif. In July, 1975, they returned to Columbus, when she was promoted to Manager of Residence Training. From here she was transferred to Washington C.H. as Customer Services Manager. This position has never before been held by a woman in this area.

Mrs. Link is a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club, New Hope Methodist Church, Community Education Association, Fayette County Health Planning Council, Fayette County Committee on Alcoholism, Altrusa International, Chamber of Commerce and Curtain Players Theater Group.

MISS PAM STRALEY and TIM RENICK

Fall wedding is planned

Mr. and Mrs. William Straley and Mr. and Mrs. George Renick of Jeffersonville are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their children, Pam and Tim.

Pam is a 1975 graduate of Miami Trace High School and a 1976 graduate of the Fayette County School of Practical Nursing in Washington C.H. She is employed at Court House Manor Nursing Home.

Tim is a 1971 graduate of Miami Trace High School and employed at the Krieger Farm Equipment of near Jeffersonville.

A September wedding is being planned.

OEA WEEK PROCLAIMED — Mr. George Shapter, City Manager, is signing the Proclamation declaring the week of February 6-12 as Office Education Association Week in Washington C.H. Mrs. Regina DelPonte, Washington Senior High School Cooperative Office Education Coordinator, and Eddie Cottrell, COE president, are looking on.

OEA Week proclaimed here

Vocational business and office education students at Washington Senior High School join Office Education Association members from throughout the nation in activities to make the community aware of the importance of vocational student organizations during OEA WEEK, Feb. 6-12, 1977. OEA WEEK is being observed concurrently with Vocational Education Week.

The purpose for this celebration is to inform the public of the meaning and objectives of OEA. By doing this, the community will be aware of the important part that OEA plays in the local school and community.

Many of the activities planned by the WSHS OEA Chapter evolve around this year's national theme, "OEA, Building the Skills of America." Our local OEA members chose Special Olympics as their main service project. Special Olympics is a nationwide program of sports training and athletic competition for mentally retarded children and adults. They are dedicated to helping the mentally retarded know not only the joy of running and jumping, but of working and contributing.

The Office Education Association, with a membership of more than 65,000 students, is designed to develop leadership abilities in the American Business world, and competency in office occupations. Through its professional, financial, civic, service, and social activities and projects, OEA is developing leaders of tomorrow, today.

Mrs. Moats hostess to Homemakers

"Friendship" was the theme for devotions presented to the Sunny-East Belles Homemakers by Mrs. Bernard Huffman when members met in the home of Mrs. Vada Moats Tuesday evening. Mrs. Roy Yahn was the assisting hostess. Mrs. Maria Estle was a special guest.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Dwight Foy, president, who appointed a committee composed of Ms. Donald Belles, Mrs. Allen McClung and Mrs. Huffman to make plans to attend the presentation of "Tecumseh," the outdoor drama at Sugarloaf Mountain, Chillicothe, this summer. She also named to the Constitution and by-laws committee Mrs. Ronald Burns, Mrs. McClung and Mrs. Foy.

The group decided to continue the project of remembering birthdays of children at the Fayette County Children's Home for next year. Each is remembered on his or her birthday with a card and a cash gift.

Refreshments were served following the business and robber bingo was enjoyed.

Those present besides the hostesses and Mrs. Maria Estle, were Mrs. Foy, Mrs. McClung, Mrs. Huffman, Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Belles, Mrs. Robert Climer, Mrs. Chester Clay, Mrs. Clyde Estle, and Mrs. Robert W. Fries.

Mrs. Climer and Mrs. Willard Greer will be hostesses for the March 8th meeting in the Climer Home, when a potluck supper will be featured.

Milestone reached by area bank company during 1976

WILMINGTON — The annual stockholders meeting and reorganization meeting of the Clinton County National Bank and Trust Co. of Wilmington was held Tuesday.

M.H. Davids, president, reported to the stockholders that in 1976 the bank reached a milestone in its continuing growth and progress. During the year the bank attained assets of $50 million and at the end of the year had over $54 million in assets.

The bank has seven offices in Wilmington, New Vienna, Sabina and Port William. Each office had a very successful year and contributed to the bank's over-all growth, Davids stated.

Members elected to the advisory board of the Sabina office were J.W. Beam, C.E. Cummings, Dr. R.C. Smith, E.C. Waddell and H.D. Zimmerman.

Officers and employees appointed for the Sabina office were Zimmerman, assistant vice president; Mrs. Avonelle Mercer, assistant cashier; Jack Von Bergen, assistant cashier; Mrs. Charles Snider, teller-bookkeeper; Mrs. Jack Wolfe, teller-bookkeeper; Mrs. George Woodruff, teller-bookkeeper; Mrs. Richard Reese, teller-bookkeeper; Mrs. Terry Marshall, teller-bookkeeper; and Homer McKeever, custodian.

Members elected to the advisory board at the New Vienna office were Gerald E. Bernard, Dr. A.W. Hause, Robert Manuel, Howard Page and Harold Uible.

Officers and employees appointed for the New Vienna office were Thomas W. Brumley, vice president; Elroyd Collier, assistant cashier, C.J. Moore, assistant cashier, Mrs. Charles Thompson, teller; Mrs. William Baker, teller, and Joseph Schutte, custodian.

Municipal Court

George R. Sherman, 21, Cincinnati, was found guilty of driving while intoxicated and speeding by Washington C.H. Municipal Court Judge John P. Case Tuesday.

Sherman, who was arrested by Fayette County sheriff's deputies early Tuesday, was fined $200, sentenced to three days in jail and had his license suspended for 30 days on the driving while intoxicated charge. He was fined an additional $20 for speeding.

Also in Municipal Court Tuesday, Judge Case fined William H. Cartwright, 53, of 509 S. Main St. $100 and costs for driving while his license was under suspension.

Susan Rodgers, 50, Bloomingburg, was found guilty of passing a bad $5 check at Andrew Sohio service station in Jeffersonville last August. Judge Case fined her $50 and sentenced her to five days in jail. The jail term was suspended pending good behavior for one year.

McBride leads vote

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Establishment candidate Lloyd McBride, seeking to brush aside rebel Edward Sadlowski in a bid for the presidency of the United Steelworkers union, took an unofficial 2-to-1 lead in early election returns.

Both camps said more than 550,000 of the 1.4 million members voted Tuesday, but the turnout was not as heavy as expected in the hotly contested race to replace I.W. Abel.

An Associated Press survey gave McBride 143,080 votes to 85,451 for Sadlowski, with 2,584 of the union's 5,000 locals reporting.

However, returns from larger locals in the basic steel industry, where Sadlowski expected to do well, were not yet available.

Unofficial returns from McBride's staff gave the 60-year-old St. Louis resident 154,010 votes to 90,685 for Sadlowski with 2,656 locals reporting.

"A McBride victory would mean a continuation of stable relations with our industries and our membership," said Abel, who made an appearance at McBride's headquarters early today.

But ballot counting in the Sadlowski camp gave the challenger a 39,701 to 33,479 lead on returns from 865 locals.

New apartment complex planned near Frankfort

FRANKFORT, Ohio — Legal details have been finalized for a new 24-unit apartment complex to be constructed just west of Frankfort in Ross County.

Jo Everhart, an agent with the E.J. Platt Real Estate agency in Washington C.H. who handled the transaction, said the complex will be named Hokelesqua Apartments, Ltd. The development is being named after an Indian chief who once resided in a village in the Frankfort area.

Hustler publisher convicted

CINCINNATI (AP) — It took almost five weeks to convict Larry Flynt of engaging in organized crime and pandering obscenity—selling material judged to be obscene—and when the verdict was read, the 34-year-old publisher remained defiant.

"This court has not made an intelligent decision during the entire proceedings and I don't expect one now," Flynt said after his attorneys had just appealed for leniency. "I don't want mercy."

"As Gary Gilmore said, 'Let's do it,'" Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Judge William J. Morrissey granted the request, imposing a seven-to-25 year prison sentence and a $10,000 fine on the engaging in organized crime conviction and a concurrent six month sentence and a $1,000 fine on the charge of pandering obscenity.

The magazine was fined a total of $11,000 on the two counts.

Flynt's wife Althea Leasure, his brother Jimmy and magazine vice president Al Van Schaik were acquitted on the same charges.

The verdict came after seven men and five women had spent four days studying 11 issues of Hustler, which is published in Columbus, Ohio and which has a national circulation of 1,448,000. "We read every one of those babies from cover to cover," said one juror, who asked to remain anonymous. He said the jury had been deadlocked for two days.

The case was considered a major test of whether the community could dictate obscenity standards. After the verdict, Prosecutor Simon Leis Jr. said he was satisfied with the result.

"Moral boundaries have been established in this county and this country which will put limitations on how far smut peddlers will be allowed to go," Leis said.

scheduled to begin immediately. There will be 12 two-story townhouse apartments in each of two buildings. The apartments will have two bedrooms and the complex will be equipped with a central building with laundry facilities and a recreation area.

The apartment complex will be situated on a 2.68-acre tract being acquired from David and Mary Core on old U.S. 35, just west of Frankfort. The site is located between the Frankfort Greenlawn Cemetery and the Budd Co. plant.

Ms. Everhart said that while the site is not within the Frankfort village limits, the complex will obtain village sewer and water service by tapping into lines serving the Budd Co. plant. The apartments are expected to be ready for occupancy by early fall.

The total cost of the apartment construction project will be approximately $400,000.

Partners in the apartment project are Ned Eller, of Sounik, Eller and Martin, a Columbus architectural firm; Colleen Spring, manager of a Columbus apartment complex, and Karl Free, of South Salem.

Cincy attorney on state board

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Anita T. Molano, an attorney from Cincinnati, has been named director of government financing for the Ohio Hospital Association, officials of the association say.

She is a 1976 graduate of the University of Cincinnati College of Law.

Benjamin Russell Hanbly composed "Daring Nellie Gray" at Westerville in 1856.— AP

NEW SALESMAN — The Grove City Farmers Exchange, has announced that Ben Jamison, 609 Leesburg Ave., has accepted a position of sales representative for the firm. In his new position, Jamison will be specializing in seed, fertilizer and chemical needs of farmers in Fayette, Madison, Franklin and Pickaway counties. Prior to joining the Grove City organization, Jamison was employed as a sales representative for the Sugar Creek Stone Quarry, Ohio 41-S.

Computer check discloses double medical payments

COLUMBUS — State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson has announced that as a result of a computer check for duplicate payments, findings for recovery totaling $7,946.50 have been issued against 50 physicians providing Medicaid services, boosting the aggregate total of duplicate payments thus far to $25,810.89.

The computer check, the third of a series of checks to be conducted periodically of the state's 30,000 Medicaid providers, revealed duplicate payments ranging from $13 to $1,097.

The computer check involved a comparison of payments to each provider during the period Sept. 1, 1972 through June 30, 1976.

According to Ferguson, duplicate payments could result from a provider submitting a claim for payment more than once, and the Ohio Department of Public Welfare honoring such a claim more than once.

Although 50 audits of the various providers within the state were released today, the Auditor said more will be released in series form periodically "in this phase of auditing public welfare money."

The audit reports released today on the 50 providers have been sent to the Ohio Attorney General, the Ohio Department of Public Welfare, the applicable licensing boards, the county prosecutors and the providers.

All findings were made in favor of the Ohio Department of Public Welfare.

Find staff ratio now in good slot

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The ratio of staff to residents in Ohio's institutions for the mentally retarded has reached one-to-one ratio, according to Dr. Timothy B. Moritz, director of the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

The ratio was accomplished by the addition of 1,987 new employees and a reduction of 1,073 institution residents, Moritz said.

He said federal funding and reallocation of resources within the department enabled the ratio to be achieved without significant increases in state funds.

Order reverses panel removal

MOUNT GILEAD, Ohio (AP) — The 5th District Court of Appeals has reversed a lower court order removing three Northmor Board of Education members.

The unanimous decision of the three judges panel recognizes an error of judgment by the three board members who authorized construction of a building addition without state mandated competitive bidding. However, the judges cite Ohio Supreme Court rulings that look with disfavor on removing elected officials from office where there is no evidence of "substantial departure from faithful performance of duties."

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Seventy-five TV stations and four national sponsors have signed up so far for the four 90-minute interview programs talk show host David Frost will soon tape with former President Richard M. Nixon.
That's the word from Leon Koch, executive vice president of Syndicast Services, a New York syndication firm Frost's production company hired to market the Nixon television interviews in the United States and overseas.
And by the time the first Nixon-Frost show airs on May 4, Koch said, he expects to have placed the four programs on more than 100 stations, reaching 90 per cent of the viewing audience in the United States.
The shows will be edited from 12 two-hour interviews Frost will start with Nixon late next month at Nixon's home in San Clemente, Calif. They're being offered stations on what is called a "barter basis."
The three commercial networks earlier rejected proposals to buy rights to interview Nixon, citing policies against buying "hard news" stories.
In August 1974, a year after Nixon resigned from office in the wake of the Watergate scandal, Frost said he'd bought the rights to interview him for TV. He refuses to disclose the price paid Nixon, and Koch says he doesn't know how much the fee will be.
But big bucks clearly are involved for all.
Each Nixon show has 12 minutes set aside for commercials. Koch says. He said stations in Syndicast's barter deal won't have to pay for the programs and can sell six minutes of each show's commercial time.
In return, he added, his firm can sell the remaining six commercial minutes of each show to advertisers. He said that time is being sold national sponsors for $125,000 a minute.
That could work out to a whopping $3 million in national advertising revenue for the four-show package.
But so far, Koch said, only two sponsored minutes of each show have been bought — in 30-second units — by four national sponsors. He said they've asked him not to disclose their names right now.

He said other sponsors have placed tentative orders totalling two more minutes of each show, and that he expects to have the series fully sponsored by the time the first Nixon-Frost interview airs in May.
He was asked if the fact the series' commercial time isn't sold out now was due to a reluctance by national advertisers to sponsor a show involving Nixon, a man who left office in disgrace.
"I don't think so," Koch said by phone from New York. "I think, sure, certain companies didn't want any part of that, although nobody has said that to us."
He theorized it may be because Syndicast originally tried to get just one or two advertisers to fully sponsor the series, then tried to get them to sponsor half the entire series and failed each time.
"To that we found sales resistance," he said. "Now we don't know whether it was because of Mr. Nixon or Mr. Frost, or because of the fact we were asking a goodly amount, millions of dollars, but it was hard for us to sell."

Savings possible for Ohio consumers

Generic drug product legislation has bipartisan support

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Legislation with bipartisan backing would permit Ohioans to buy generic drug products from pharmacists rather than purchasing higher priced prescriptions calling for name brands.

The most common generic drug is probably aspirin, the generic name for a pain reliever marketed under a number of trade names.

Sen. Robert D. Freeman, D-29 Canton, cited as a better example chloral hydrate, which he said listed at an average price among the four lowest cost suppliers at $1.27 for 100 milligrams. The top brand name seller at pharmacies, however, costs $4.12 for the same dosage, according to the Stark County lawmaker.

Under the bill, a customer can get a "therapeutically equivalent generic drug" at the pharmacy, assuming it is available, rather than the higher priced product prescribed by his or her doctor.

"The proposed legislation is permissive, and in no way interferes with the doctor-patient relationship," Freeman emphasized. "If the doctor insists on prescribing higher priced drugs, he may do so."

But pharmacists, barred by present law from substituting for a prescription, could provide the same generic drug at a cheaper price unless the physician stipulates in writing "dispense as indicated."

The bill includes a "truth in labeling" provision, requiring disclosure of the name of the actual drug manufacturer.

Although there are 18 alleged sources, Freeman said all chloral hydrates in Ohio are made by one manufacturer. The cost range of the distributors varies by more than 100 per cent, the legislator said.

"Opponents of the legislation will argue the bill will provide the opportunity for many disreputable drug manufacturers to enter Ohio," Freeman conceded. "Frankly, there is nothing to stop them now. When the bill passes, however, the manufacturers disclosure provision will allow health care professionals and the State Board of Pharmacy to find (them) and put them out of business."

A similar bill, sponsored by Freeman, failed to pass in the last session, and he expects some doctors and drug manufacturers to again fight the measure. But he claims support from the Ohio State Pharmaceutical Association.

"The savings to the consumer resulting from this legislation is so large it is inestimable," Freeman maintains. "The savings to the State of Ohio on its drug purchases will be in the millions of dollars." This would be particularly true in the area of Medicaid, he said.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Classes at Cincinnati Bible Seminary are now being held where it is warmest—in student dormitory rooms.

Forty dormitory rooms on the fourth floor of the school's men's residence hall, some other sections of the building and two lounges in the women's residence halls have been turned into classrooms.

The action was taken by the school of 860 as a voluntary move to conserve natural gas.

Ginzburg latest target of Soviets

MOSCOW (AP) — A shy, redbearded man who has paid out more than $350,000 of Alexander Solzhenitsyn's royalties to Soviet political prisoners and their families is the latest target of the Kremlin's drive against its critics at home.

The arrest last week of Alexander Ginzburg prompted an appeal by more than 200 dissidents for his release and an official expression of concern from the U.S. State Department.

The dissidents' appeal said he was suffering from pneumonia complicated by a chronic tubercular condition. Valentin Turchin, head of the Soviet branch of Amnesty International, said jail meant "certain death for a man in his condition."

The Soviet government has not even said what he is charged with, although the Literary Gazette last week accused him of illegal currency dealings.

Toussled and gaunt from the tubercular condition he picked up during six years in various prisons, the 40-year-old Ginzburg ignored official warnings, police searches and interrogations and managed the relief fund the Nobel prize-winning author established when he was exiled in 1974.

Just before his arrest last week, he told foreign correspondents the fund has paid 270,000 rubles — the equivalent of $363,879 at the official exchange rate — to a total of 1,470 political prisoners or members of their families.

Born Nov. 21, 1936, in a partly Jewish family of economists, Ginzburg was a canoeing champion in 1954, when he was 18. He worked as a lathe operator, actor, theatrical producer and part-time journalist until 1960, when he was sentenced to two years at hard labor for editing Syntax, an underground poetry magazine.

He was arrested again in 1964 for allegedly distributing anti-Soviet literature but was released four days later. A Moscow newspaper published a letter over his name attacking "Western propagandists" for trying to make capital of his case.

In January 1968, after a well publicized show trial, Ginzburg and three others were convicted of publishing "The White book on the Siniavsky-Daniel Affair," a collection of documents pertaining to the 1966 conviction of writers Yuli M. Daniel and Andrei Siniavsky for publishing anti-Soviet writings abroad.

Ginzburg served four years. After his release in 1972, he was denied permission to live in Moscow but managed to spend most of his time here with his wife, Irina, and their two small sons. His record as a political prisoner and his continuing activity in the cause of human rights barred him from steady employment, and he held a succession of temporary jobs, most of them doing manual labor.

He is a leading member of the group formed last May to monitor Soviet compliance with the human rights provisions of the Helsinki Accords signed by the United States, the Soviet Union, and 33 other nations in 1975.

Zoning appointment on Council calendar

Washington C.H. City Council members will consider a resolution confirming the appointment of Vincent Lee, 321 Florence St., to the city board of zoning appeals when Council meets in regular session tonight in the Carnegie Public Library.

City Manager George H. Shapter appointed Lee to the unexpired term ending April 30 and to the full term ending April 30, 1980. Council must now either approve or disapprove the appointment to the zoning board vacancy.

An ordinance amending the zoning map of the city from residential to business for a building at 220 N. Fayette Street will be placed on its second reading. The building will house the Lafayette Agency, Inc., when the ordinance is approved.

The meeting will be held in the basement of the library at 7:30 p.m. This will be the second meeting held at the new site. City Council had been meeting at the Fraternal Order of Police building on N. Fayette Street until last month when heating problems forced a move.

Persons wishing to attend the meeting should enter the library through the North Street entrance and walk through the children's book section to the meeting room.

There is an entrance to the meeting room on East Street, but it will remain locked until milder temperatures prevail.

Smoke reports checked

The Washington C.H. Fire Department responded to two smoke reports Tuesday. There was no fire discovered in either report.

At 9:45 a.m., firemen were called to the Howard Gray residence, 331 N. Main St. Firemen found smoke coming from mortar joints of the chimney causing the eaves to appear to be on fire.

At 10:32 a.m., firemen were called to an apartment building at 113 W. Court St. on a report that the three-story building's roof was on fire. The building is owned by Joe J. Loudner, 629 Fairway Drive.

Firemen discovered that the smoke rolling off the roof was caused by a faulty chimney. The flue was reportedly covered with mortar and tin.

Firemen were also called to a home at 432 Delaware St. to make a carbon monoxide check. Paul Simmons, who resides in the house, was advised to get a new heating unit installed when the check proved positive.

The house is owned by Elizabeth Gray, 629 Gibbs Ave.

Firearms charge lodged by police

A 31-year-old Mount Sterling man was arrested for improper handling of firearms in a motor vehicle by Washington C.H. Police Capt. Dennis Brown Tuesday afternoon.

Brown reported that he discovered a 22 caliber revolver on the dashboard of a truck which was blocking an alley in the 800 block S. Main St.

William H. Caldwell was found to be the owner of the truck and the revolver, which was loaded. Capt. Brown placed Caldwell under arrest and confiscated the revolver for evidence.

Gas use figures listed by DP&L

The Dayton Power and Light Co. reportedly Wednesday there are 39 days left in the winter heating season and the natural gas supply will last 32 days.

The temperature Tuesday was 11 degrees below normal, DP&L said, and customers used 317,000 mcf of natural gas. A total of 2,158,000 mcf of gas have been used in the past week.

Ferguson notes medical payments

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson reports that $465,732.28 was paid in January to providers of medical services to needy children.

Reimbursement is made twice weekly to those who take care of handicapped children.

Some of the larger payments included Cincinnati Childrens Hospital, $71,271; University Hospital of Cleveland, $66,900; Akron Childrens Hospital, $54,905; Columbus Childrens Hospital, $50,118; Dayton Childrens

Hospital, $6,770; Toledo Medical College, $2,481, and Ohio State University Hospital, $880.

When in 1820 a young physician in Cincinnati, Ohio asked to marry the daughter of Gen. Duncan McArthur, that old pioneer told him that the practice of medicine in Ohio was "generally a poor and miserable business" which seldom afforded "the means of a decent support to those who followed it."

DIVORCE SUIT FILED

Flint A. Fitzpatrick, Milledgeville, has filed suit for divorce in Common Pleas Court from Nancy J. Fitzpatrick, Milledgeville, on grounds of neglect of duty and cruelty. Married in Clintwood, Va., May 3, 1974, the couple has one minor child. The plaintiff asks a divorce, reasonable division of property; and visitation with the minor child.

JURY TRIAL ASKED

A Jeffersonville man has requested a jury trial in Fayette County Common Pleas Court in efforts to gain benefits through the Workmen's Compensation Law.

Cary J. Prater contends that he was injured while working for Reilco Project 20 of Jeffersonville in 1974.

Previous claims with the Ohio Bureau of Workmen's Compensation and the Ohio Industrial Commission have been denied, because there is no proof that Prater was employed by the Jeffersonville firm at the time of the accident, according to the petition.

Letters from R-H readers

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

I would like to take this means to express my appreciation to the newly formed Life Squad who is presently serving our community by providing emergency ambulance service.

It gave me a feeling of security and comfort to record the new telephone number 335-6000 where we could call to get emergency help.

I wonder if the average citizen realizes the many hours of donated time and the personal sacrifices, that these men and women have made in order to make our community a safer more pleasant place to live.

While we all cannot donate our services to the squad we can at least give them our moral and financial support. I believe that Mr. John Lachat is the treasurer of this organization and would accept our contributions.

Bruce H. Strickling
136 River Road

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

I would like to say thank-you to the following people: Mr. Ralston Smith for his fine cooperation in helping in communications, Sheriff Donald Thompson and his staff for transporting nurses, The Air National Guard for flying in nurses, the E.M.T.'s for volunteering their services, Marcie Rittenhouse who ran errands and answered the phones for us, Clyde Creamer and Mr. John Duff in seeing some of nurses back to their homes, the many people in our community who called and volunteered their homes and services, to the staff of Fayette Memorial Hospital who have lived here since last Friday and worked around the clock in order to keep our nursing units covered. The combined efforts of all are greatly appreciated.

A special thank-you to God who has made us all realize and appreciate His special gifts which we seem to take for granted each day. Without Him nothing would be possible.

Again, my heartfelt thank-you.
Mary C. West, R.N.
Director Nursing Services
Fayette County Memorial Hospital

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

We employees of the Ohio Department of Transportation would like to take this opportunity to thank all the people who helped us during this recent snow crisis. While we were working around the clock, our neighbors (the Hershel Maxie's and the Bill Marshall's) made sure we had plenty to eat to help us keep going. Strangers actually invited us into their homes.

Thanks to all the farmers and others who used their own equipment, volunteered their time, and helped us out.

Thanks, too, to the people who called by phone to thank us for all the work we were doing. It's nice to know when you're appreciated.

Fayette County Employees of the Ohio Dept. of Transportation

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

I have been reading letters to the Editor about different things but none seem to touch on economy. A few months ago sugar was reported to be scarce and doubled or nearly tripled in price. Also gasoline was so hard to get people were in line for blocks trying to fill up. Now we are having a gas war.

We are told to cut our thermostats back to save fuel. When we get our gas and light bills not only has the cost tripled but the usage also double. I guess with all the snow and ice, we will be having a water shortage next. With 1 or 2 in a family and have 1 bathroom and being at work all day, I am wondering how your water and sewage bill could be as high as a family with 3 or 4 having 2 bathrooms and at home all day. True we live in a great country but how long is God going to let us continue ripping one another off. With this crucial period I believe he is trying to tell us something now.

Athaleen Gray
1112 Yeoman St.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

During the recent weather emergency, especially the last week in January, many organizations helped people in the community tremendously and we are all grateful. However, we feel that the coverage WCHO Radio provided regarding road conditions, changes in store hours, and other related news was very inadequate. Announcements every half hour simply were not enough, and even then the information supplied on both AM and FM frequencies was sketchy and incomplete. We found that we had to listen to stations from surrounding towns in order to find out what was going on in our own area.

We personally did not find the music which was broadcast between announcements to be either helpful or entertaining, and we seriously wonder if most of the music selected is what the majority of listeners enjoy. Perhaps a survey of area residents would be helpful in obtaining opinions and suggestions of other listeners to WCHO.

We regret having to complain but felt it was our duty as citizens of the community to express our thoughts in the editorial section of the newspaper as well as in a letter to WCHO Radio personnel in hopes of hearing some improvements in their programming.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

To the many wonderful people in the Washington C.H. area, I hope we have all seen the worst of our severe weather problems, and I know that there is still a lot of work to be done.

I sit here today thinking of how many people were helped at some time or other. Maybe I should try to think of the number that weren't, for I'm sure that the number is quite smaller.

I wonder also how many hours the National Guard and sheriff's deputies put it. How many had sleepless nights and done without meals? How many worried wives and children there were at home while their husbands and fathers were out helping others.

I grew up in Michigan and faced these problems often. It's never easy, there is always hardships of some kind or other on almost everyone. But when everyone unites and helps each other, wonderful and warm things begin to happen. It's such a great thing to offer a simple cup of coffee and a warm home to someone who's been out in the cold. It makes you both feel good.

I must say I am more than proud of Fayette County's people. And feel each one who offered their help to a needy person will have a very special blessing.

I wonder how many neighbors who haven't talked to each other for years that this brought together.

Our Lord wants us to express love to others. I doubt that he's disappointed in us. For the word is not a stranger among the Fayette County people. How proud we should be.

It's been rough going and may not be over yet. But as we go on and face one day at a time let us look to the bright side. Some could have been hurt a lot more than they were. We could have lost some loved ones. We have a lot of people to thank, the list is endless. But most of all while we're handing out thanks to the well deserved, don't forget to thank our Father, he's done his part for us too.

My husband helped a lot of people and I'll leave you with something he's told them all—Next time you see someone who needs help, remember someone cared and helped you.

Leech hunt in works

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Bored? Done it all? An expedition to the jungles of French Guiana to stalk the world's biggest leech might be just the thing to perk you up.

For $1,375 you can join a band of adventurers who will brave snake-infested swamps to track the 18-inch bloodsuckers to their lair. The invitation is from a University of California biologist who has been a leech fancier from childhood.

Roy Sawyer plans to bring back a batch of the creatures and breed them. Haementeria ghilianii, as these particular leeches are known, are Sawyer's candidates to become a standard laboratory research animal for the study of how the nervous system works.

They may also be used to replace the Hirudo leech which is a source of an anticoagulant called hirudin, used to treat heart patients and people undergoing surgery.

Gallipolis was founded Oct. 17, 1790, by a band of 500 French artisans and craftsmen.—AP

Court House holds on for 71-68 win

MTHS in ashes after WCH-MT barnburner

By MARK REA
Record-Herald Sports Editor
EBER, Ohio — Miami Trace High School lies in ashes today after last night's edition of the Washington C.H. - Miami Trace rivalry.

The Lions and Panthers set fire to the gym as Court House pulled out a frenzied 71-68 win. The win had the Panther fans calling foul as the Lions took 20 free throws to only 13 for Trace.

The game began very unlike the finish. The Panthers took an early lead of nine points at 15-6. Bill Hanners and Art Schlichter scored the first six points of the game to give Trace a quick 6-0 lead.

Court House's John Denen finally scored a basket for the Lions but Schlichter and Glen Cobb answered that with four more points to make the score 10-2.

Washington got four points to get back to within six but Dan Gifford and Tom Richardson collected five to set Trace on top of Fayette County with a 15-6 lead.

After that nine-point deficit, the Lions kindled the first spark by outscoring the Panthers 8-1 for the remainder of the period. After an impressive start by the Panthers, their lead was only 16-14.

By the time the second quarter was underway, the fire was spreading throughout the gym. The first two baskets in the period belonged to Washington's Tom Dean and Doug Stewart.

From there, the game was a shootout as the teams traded points. Neither team could take more than a two-point advantage until the Lions broke through with five straight points to take a 33-26 lead.

Outscoring Washington the rest of the way, the Panthers were trailing by only four at halftime, 33-29.

Stewart was the main spark for the Lions in the first half. The seldom-used junior scored nine points on tip-ins and lay-ups Dean and Sam McClendon also paced Washington in the first half with eight points each.

Schlichter led the Panthers in the first half with eight points while four other Panthers had at least four points.

Trace did a good defensive job on Denen in the first half, limiting him to only four points, two on free throws.

The third quarter saw the fire get out of control as the Lions raced to a 10-point lead. Dee Foster and Denen got the ball rolling with two quick baskets at the outset.

But the Panthers would not roll over yet as Hanners and Schlichter combined to get the Panthers back within two at 37-35. That's when the fire got to the roof and if fell in on Trace.

Denen, Dean and Terry Wilson scored eight unanswered points for Court House to take a sudden 45-35 lead. The teams traded points until the end of the quarter with Court House leading 53-43.

That set the stage for the fourth quarter inferno. The quarter started calmly as Washington upped their lead to 13 points. Trace began the comeback trail with five points from their junior duo, Hanners and Schlichter.

Their trail was bumpy for a while as reserve coach Mike Henry was called for a technical foul and was subsequently ejected from the playing surface. Later in the period, Henry was slapped with another technical when he did not completely leave the playing floor.

Meanwhile, Trace was simply spinning its wheels trying to come back as they ended up behind by 10 with three minutes remaining. That was when the fire could not be contained.

The Panthers outscored the Lions 10-2 in a two minute stretch to make the game a thriller at 68-66. Denen put the fire out for the Lions as he drew three straight fouls and iced the game with his final free throw, one that made the score 71-66 with 10 seconds remaining.

Trace scored another bucket in the time remaining and then ran for cover as the fiery walls came tumbling down on a 71-68 Court House win.

The junior combo of Schlichter and Denen led their respective teams in points. Schlichter and Denen took honors for the game with 23 points.

Two other Panthers hit double figures. Gifford and Hanners scored 15 and 12 points, respectively.

The Lions also had two more players in double digits as Dean collected 13 points and McClendon added another 10.

Denen took honors in the rebounding department with 16 followed by Hanners with 12, Wilson with 11, and Schlichter and Cobb with 10 each.

The teams were almost even in the floor shooting as Court House made 31 of 65 shots for 48 per cent and Trace made 30 of 71 for 42 per cent.

The win for Washington keeps them in the hunt for the SCOL crown behind Wilmington. Their record is now 9-1 overall and 6-1 in the league.

The loss sent the Panthers reeling to a 4-7 record overall and a 3-4 card in the SCOL.

The Panthers play again Saturday night as they host the Hillsboro Indians.

Washington C.H. plays two more games this weekend as they also host Hillsboro this Friday and then travel to Madison Plains on Saturday.

SCHLICHTER, DENEN DO BATTLE — Miami Trace's Art Schlichter goes in for a lay-up while John Denen of the Blue Lions comes in with a late defensive effort. Schlichter and Denen were the leading scorers in the game as Washington C.H. beat Miami Trace 71-68.

Record-Herald Sports Writer
EBER, OHIO — "I am speechless!" Those three words were just about all the words reserve basketball coach Rick Crooks could say moments after he watched one of his Washington C.H. Blue Lion players hit a high arching 25 foot jump shot. The shot gave the lions a come-from-behind victory over the Miami Trace Panthers last night 54-52.

Steve Pritchett, a 6-foot-1 sophomore, hit a high arching shot with only two seconds showing on the clock to extinguish any thoughts the Panthers may have had of pulling an upset. But, before Pritchett's heroics, the game was one of those see-saw battles that kept the fans on the edges of their seats.

In the first quarter both teams played conservatively as they traded baskets and the lead several times. At the end of the first period of play the Blue Lions were holding a slim one point lead at 13-12.

The start of the second quarter saw both teams loosen up and as a result they both had more success at putting points on the board. By the halftime buzzer Washington had managed to increase their lead over the home team, Miami Trace, 29-26.

Scott Grooms and Todd Delay led the charge for the rejuvenated Panthers in the third quarter as they outscored the Lions 18-11 to take the lead 44-40 at the end of the period. Grooms hit for seven points and Delay had five as the Panthers overtook the Lions.

But the Lions were not out of the game totally. Two key baskets by Dennis Dunn kept the Lions close, and another shot by Pritchett at the buzzer of the third quarter pulled the Lions to within four of the Panthers.

It looked as if the Panthers may be able to hold onto their four point lead through the fourth period and come off with the win. But two quick buckets by Pritchett, who seemed to be the clog in the Panther gears all night, pulled the Lions from a four point deficit into a tie at 48 apiece.

Then with the score 50-48 in favor of the Panthers, Tom Bath and Pritchett both sank both shots of a one-and-one situation to give the Lions the lead 52-50. John Persinger then hit a bucket for the Panthers with 1:12 to go to tie the game at 52. The Lions decided to go for the last shot which set the stage for Pritchett's game winning bucket.

"When I called time-out I told my players to go into a four corner stall. And the man that had the ball with ten seconds left was to look for a pick and then shoot it," said Crooks as he told of the play that won the game.

Pritchett was the leading scorer for both teams as he hit for 20 points, 12 of them in the second half. Bath and Dunn were the only other two Lions in double figures as they hit for 14 and 10 points, respectively.

Delay was the leading scorer for the Panthers as he hit for 18 while Persinger had 15. Scott Grooms chipped in 13 for the Panther cause.

The Lions are now 7-2 overall and remain at least tied for first place in the SCOL with a 6-1 record. The Panthers league record drops to 3-4 and they are now 3-8 overall.

Matt Hicks named top MAC player

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Matt Hicks of Northern Illinois, who had 66 points and 33 rebounds in two games, has been named the Mid-American Conference Basketball Player of the Week for the second consecutive time.

The 6-foot-4 senior from Aurora, Ill., posted 28 points and 15 rebounds in a 99-91 double overtime setback at Miami and came up with 38 points and 18 rebounds in an 83-77 decision over Ball State.

Hicks now has won the weekly award three times this season and five times in the last two years. He leads the league in rebounding.

Move A.J.; Janet's here

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — More over A.J. Foyt, Johnny Rutherford, Bobby Unser and all you racing superstars. Janet Guthrie is back for another try at the Indianapolis 500, and this time she has a lot more confidence and a car that's a near cinch to make the starting field.

Car owner Rolla Vollstedt shocked the racing world last year by giving a ride to the 39-year-old physicist, the first woman to enter the world's richest and most prestigious auto race.

And he revealed his latest coup on Tuesday, announcing the purchase of the Lindsey Hopkins Lightning which Roger McCluskey drove at 198.7 miles an hour in tire tests at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway last October.

It is the fastest machine ever run at Indy under present U.S. Auto Club technical restrictions on manifold pressure.

Vollstedt, Miss Guthrie and her teammate, veteran Dick Simon, all disappointed in her failure to qualify here a year ago, are determined to make her competitive in the once male-dominated realm of championship racing.

"Last year, we had our share of troubles," Vollstedt told a news luncheon Tuesday. "We arrived at Indianapolis not as well prepared as we should have been. It wasn't until the month (of May) was over that we got the problems solved, and by that time our equipment was worn out."

Miss Guthrie was the first woman to enter the Indy 500, the first to pass the mandatory driving test for rookies and the first to drive around the Speedway's 2 1/2-mile oval in practice.

She is no militant feminist, but she credits the women's liberation movement with creating an atmosphere that makes a female race driver acceptable at a track where until a few years ago women were not even allowed in the pit area.

She is a veteran of 13 years in road racing, but was a virtual unknown at Indianapolis when she arrived here last year amid the greatest flurry of publicity in Indy history.

Turnovers kill fourth-ranked Deacons

Clemson slices Wake Forest ACC lead with 70-66 upset thriller

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — "The fact that we were playing at home didn't seem to be an advantage," said Wake Forest Coach Carl Tacy after his fourth-ranked Deacons were upset 70-66 by No. 15 Clemson in an Atlantic Coast Conference basketball game.

"We didn't really deserve any better fate," Tacy said. "We didn't put the ball in as we normally do on the fast break and 22 turnovers is just not our ball club. We just didn't play with intensity."

Clemson, now 6-2 in the ACC and 18-3 over-all, didn't fare much better in the turnover department with 21 Tuesday night.

Wake Forest, 7-2 in the league and 18-3 over-all, managed to cling to first place in the league as the second-place Tigers inched closer with less than a month to go before the season ends.

"Now, our task is to prepare for the final days of the season," said Tacy. "We can't take long to think about this game."

Clemson coach Bill Foster was pleased with the way his team repeatedly held off Deacon charges in the second half.

"Their hustle and defense was good in the second half. Wake Forest is as good a manto-man team as there is in the league, but we like to substitute," he said.

As Clemson crept to within a half-game of the league-leading Deacons, Foster said: "The conference race is wide open. Five teams can win it."

It started out like a good night for Wake Forest with the Deacons quickly taking a 10-2 lead in the first four minutes. Then, Clemson went on a 12-1 scoring spree to take a 14-11 lead during the next six minutes.

The game was tied twice, 20-all with 7:30 left in the first half and 64-all with 3:41 in the second half. The Tigers held a 35-32 advantage at the half.

Clemson went ahead to stay with 2:05 remaining in the game on a 12-foot jump shot by Stan Rome, who led the Tigers with 15 points. And, during the final 35 seconds, the Tigers made four out of seven free throws to provide the winning margin.

Jerry Schellenberg led the Deacons with 15 points, while Rod Griffin and Skip Brown added 14 apiece.

Elsewhere:

—Little Philadelphia Textile upset Villanova for the second year in a row, beating the heavily favored Wildcats 61-57 behind Emery Sammons' 19 points.

—Otis Birdsong scored 28 points and Cecil Rose added 22 to lead Houston to a 109-73 Southwest Conference victory over Rice. The victory was Houston's 11th 100-point effort and boosted the Cougars' record to 18-6 and their SWC mark to 8-3.

—Willie Foreman scored 14 of his 20 points in the second half as Texas A&M rallied to beat Baylor 72-57 in another SWC game as the Aggies raised their league record to 7-4.

—Jim Krivacs and John Moore split 44 points as Texas held off Southern Methodist 79-69 to make its SWC log 6-5.

—Montana canned eight free throws in the final 38 seconds to secure a 73-67 victory over Utah State.

—Massachusetts played its second string more than half the game in an 87-45 drubbing of Harvard. Jim Town, who played only 19 minutes, scored 24 points, hitting on 12 of 15 shots.

Kalamazoo ties Flint

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Yvon Dupuis scored three times for Kalamazoo, but the Wings blew a three-goal lead midway through the second period to settle for a 5-5 tie with Flint in the International Hockey League Tuesday.

Flint's Jim Koleff scored his 43rd goal of the season to tie the score with 6½ minutes remaining.

Miller looking for money in Hope chest

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Johnny Miller, who normally is looking for his second to fourth victory of the season at this time of the year, is looking for his second payday in the $200,000 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic that got underway today.

"It's a matter of momentum," said Miller, who has won the last two Hope Classics but is involved in his poorest start in years. He has missed the cut twice, withdrawn and finished 41st in four earlier tournaments this season and has won only $680.

"I'm not able to generate anything. It seems like I get off to a bad start every time, and I'm not able to get anything going. I haven't had any momentum."

"I'm not putting well at all — lousy in fact. But I don't want to use that as an excuse. I just need some momentum."

And he had his work cut out for him in the first round of this unique, 90-hole, five-day event. It's often one of the toughest for the pros. Their concentration suffers from the constant clicking of cameras. They're looking at 6½-hour rounds, which destroys timing, and three different amateur partners each day.

Miller's distractions are even greater. His amateur partners today were host Bob Hope, Sammy Davis Jr., and an 18handicapper named Gerald R. Ford.

Ford, who played two rounds with Arnold Palmer three weeks ago in the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am immediately after leaving the office of President, is scheduled to compete four days here with Miller, Lee Elder, PGA champ Dave Stockton and Billy Casper as his pro companions.

The format for this, the longest event the touring pros play all season, calls for them to play one round on each of four courses, each day with a different set of amateur partners. After 72 holes, the pros only compete for the $40,000 first prize at La Quinta. The other courses are Bermuda Dunes, Indian Wells and Tamarisk.

Wilmington takes ninth straight; Hillsboro, McClain gain wins

Wilmington won its ninth game in a row this season as they traveled to East Clinton and came back with a 65-56 win. The number fifty-six seemed to be a losing number all night last night as Greenfield McClain whipped Leesburg Fairfield 58-56 and Hillsboro trounced Madison Plains 71-56.

The Hurricane came back from a 17-14 first quarter deficit to breeze to a nine point win.

Tony Berlin paced the Hurricane with 23 points, 13 on free throws. Gary Williams also chipped in with 12 points while Bob Williams scored 11.

East Clinton scored a minor victory as they held David Nared to under 10 points for the first time this season.

McClain held off Leesburg in a game much like the Washington C.H.-Miami

Trace affair.

Greenfield, like Wilmington, was behind 17-14 in the first quarter but fought back to tie at halftime. They were trailing again by the end of the third quarter, but came back near the end of the game to notch their fifth victory against seven defeats.

Chuck Cole and Eric Dunson once again led the Tigers in scoring with 17 and 11 points, respectively. Kevin Adams led the Lions with 15 points.

Hillsboro finally broke out against someone and it was against the floundering Madison Plains Eagles. The Indians had blown the game open by the end of the third quarter and relaxed in the fourth to celebrate their second league win.

figure bracket led by Tim Fuller's 23 points. Gary Coffman added 19 points while Gary Larimer scored 14 and Randy Sanders had 11.

Gary Self, Doug Sifrit, and Tom Wittich scored in double digits for Plains with 15, 12, and 10 points.

Braves stun 76'ers, 99-89

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Basketball returned to snowbound Buffalo Tuesday night, but with a new wrinkle — some sparkling defense by the hometown Braves.

Center George Johnson, obtained from Golden State seven games ago, pulled down 17 rebounds and blocked seven shots to help the Braves stun the Philadelphia 76ers 99-89 in the first National Basketball Association game in Buffalo in nearly two weeks.

"That's the best defensive game I've seen a center play for Buffalo," said Braves Coach Bob MacKinnon. "This is why we got him. He's a great shot-blocker."

The Braves' defense has been less than devastating this season, ranking 20th in the 22-team NBA. Johnson's presence could change that.

"I've always respected his shot-blocking and his rebounding," said 76ers Coach Gene Shue. "He had a good game. I thought Buffalo played good defense."

Elsewhere in the NBA Tuesday night, the New York Knicks whipped the Los Angeles Lakers 125-107, the Phoenix Suns stopped the Atlanta Hawks 117-104, the Denver Nuggets downed the Portland Trail Blazers 119-111, the Chicago Bulls beat the San Antonio Spurs 111-89.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

THE COMPACT DIMENSIONS of this Florida-style retirement home offer 764 square feet of living space plus two porches and a carport. The front and rear screened porches can function as extensions of the large living-dining area. This house, which measures approximately 25 by 35 feet, is designed for a very narrow lot. Plan HA967R by Jan Reiner calls for a slab-on-grade masonry construction. Those wishing further information may write the architect—enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope—at 1000-52nd St. North, St. Petersburg, Fla. 33710.

Stamps In The News

AP Newsfeatures
By SYD KRONISH

Christmas is a feast for stamp collectors.

During the holiday season, nations throughout the world issue a variety of stamps for the occasion. Topical collectors who specialize in this subject have a difficult time keeping up with the multitude of stamps, most of which have a religious theme. A majority of the religious designs are based on paintings by the old masters or art objects dating back many centuries.

Great Britain's set of four stamps for 1976 is based on Christmas scenes from 13th and 14th century embroidery. This medieval embroidery was among the finest of its kind and valued highly throughout Europe. It was known as "Opus Anglicanum" — the English work. The scenes on all four adhesives are from embroideries which are part of the collection at the Victoria and Albert Museum in London.

The 6.5-pence stamp features the Virgin Child from the Clare Chasuble (1272-1294) in the style of the reign of King Henry III. The 8.5-p shows the figure of an angel bearing a crown and has been taken from a pair of panels (1340-1370) found in a chapel in Hampshire. The 11-p depicts an angel appearing to the shepherds. It is from one of three panels (1320-1340), part of the decoration of an ecclesiastical vestment known as an alb, on which are scenes of events in the life of the Virgin Mary. The 13-p illustrates the three kings presenting gifts, taken from the Butler-Bowden Cope (1330-1350) — one of the finest surviving examples of Opus Anglicanum.

Antigua's set of five Christmas stamps consists of five designs depicting religious scenes. The 8-cent shows the Annunciation, 10-cent — The Flight to Egypt, 15-cent — The Three Wise Men,

These Christmas stamps, as well as most of the others being issued at this time of year, can be obtained at your local stamp dealer.

Greenland has issued only one stamp for the Christmas celebration. This stamp, however, does not have a religious theme. It shows sleds resting on the ice under the bright light of the pole star.

According to the Greenland Christmas Stamp Committee in that country, this stamp "is a tribute to the Greenland sled-dog, which with its unfailing good spirits, its staying power, frugality, and hardiness is still of great importance to people and their everyday life in great parts of Greenland." The value on the stamp is 20 ore.

Here are some other interesting Christmas designs. Jamaica's set of three stamps features Belisario prints of "John Canoe Christmas Celebrations." The prints are of local men and women dancers and musicians.

New Hebrides' three stamps are based on religious paintings by masters of the Portuguese school. The designs depict "The Flight Into Egypt," "Adoration of the Shepherds," and "Adoration of the Magi."

Malawi has issued an unusual design of a modern-day child lying on a bed of straw. At the top of the stamp is the quotation "And She Brought Forth Her First-Born Son."

Newman Revisits A Deteriorating English Language

A CIVIL TONGUE. By Edwin Newman. Bobbs-Merrill. 207 Pages. $8.95.

Edwin Newman has written another good book about bad writing.

In his earlier best-selling "Strictly Speaking," Newman carries on his most witty campaign against the corruption of the English language. Early on Newman states his thesis: "A civil tongue ... means to me a language that is not bogged down in jargon, not puffed up with false dignity, not studded with trick phrases that have lost their meaning. It is not falsely exciting, is not patronizing, does not conceal the smallness and triteness of ideas by clothing them in language ever more grandiose, does not seek out increasingly complicated constructions, does not weigh us down with the gelatinous verbiage of Washington and the social sciences."

Having made most clear where he stands, Newman then devotes the rest of his book to discussing in just what ways English has become an uncivil tongue and backing up his statements with examples that amuse while they horrify.

Here are two examples selected at random: "Y'know." A friend in Detroit told me he had heard a colleague say, "Y'know, you never know." And, attributed to an American general during the Korean War, "Our firepower will have a tremendous impact on their ground troops, breaking their will in addition to killing them."

No area is immune from Newman's probing into the misuse of language: Sports, government, the military, academia, science, communications, all contribute their horrible examples of English as she, unfortunately, is spoke in contemporary America.

Officers probe six mishaps

Snow drifts still plague drivers

Large drifts of snow along Fayette County roadways are still proving hazardous to motorists.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported that a 1:15 p.m. two-car collision on Tuesday resulted when neither driver could see the other car approaching on the Dill Road because of the drifts.

Deputies reported that Vickie S. Brown, 20, of 821 Maple St. was driving east on the Dill Road and Deborah Blanton, 18, Mount Sterling, was traveling west. The collision occurred when the two cars rounded a curve and were unable to stop in time to avoid the mishap.

Neither driver was injured and no citations were given. The Brown auto was damaged slightly and the Blanton auto received moderate damage.

Five other traffic mishaps were investigated Tuesday and no injuries were reported by area law enforcement agencies.

POLICE

TUESDAY, 9:05 a.m. — Larry D. Funk, 22, of 704 Blackstone Ave., was reportedly pulling from a parking space on Market Street when his auto struck a car driven by Pat E. McGuire, 67, London.

Police officers said that Funk was unable to see the McGuire auto approaching when his view was obstructed. No citation was given.

The Funk auto received slight damage and the McGuire auto was moderately damaged.

11:06 a.m. — Richard L. Andermatt, 28, Chillicothe, told police officers that he was driving in an alley next to police headquarters when he saw a truck driven by James E. Kirkpatrick, 36, of 3651 U.S. 62-NE, stopped in the alley. He applied his brakes, but was unable to stop striking the Kirkpatrick truck.

No citations were given and both vehicles received slight damage.

3:30 p.m. — Kim J. Evans, 413 Lewis St., told police officers that a vehicle struck his car while it was parked in the 200 block of E. Court St. and left the scene. The Evans car was slightly damaged.

10:23 p.m. — Dewey A. Sheidler, 78, of 510 E. Market St., was cited for failure to yield the right of way when his auto reportedly struck a car driven by James L. Gregory, 47, New Holland.

Sheidler was reportedly pulling from a private drive on E. Court Street when the accident occurred.

SHERIFF

TUESDAY, 9:15 a.m. — A car driven by Barbara A. Sears, 41, Jeffersonville, reportedly struck a parked car owned by Beatrice L. Roberts, Rt. 3, Washington C.H., on High Street in Jeffersonville.

The Sears auto was reportedly traveling east on High Street when the driver applied her brakes because another auto was backing from an alley. Her car skidded on the ice-covered street and struck the parked car, according to sheriff's deputies.

The parked car received moderate damage and the Sears car was damaged slightly.

Beef prices stay down

WASHINGTON (AP) — A somewhat larger meat supply than expected a few months ago will tend to hold down cattle prices through mid-year, according to the Agriculture Department.

Choice-grade steer prices on the Omaha market are expected to average $37 to $39 per 100 pounds this quarter and $39 to $41 in the second quarter of 1977, the department's Outlook and Situation Board said Monday.

Last fall experts said that cattle prices might average in the range of $41 to $43 per hundredweight this quarter and $43 to $45 in the second.

"Cattlemen are cutting back beef production," officials said. "But the cyclical buildup in hog numbers may result in 20 per cent more pork during the first half of this year. Larger pork supplies will more than offset any reductions in beef output."

As a result, total red meat output in the first six months of 1977 may be up 4 to 6 per cent from the record volume of the first half of 1976, officials said.

Alcoholic mothers have a substantially higher chance of giving birth to a child with birth defects, says the March of Dimes.

Washington C.H. police officers are investigating a breaking and entering report at the Skyscraper Restaurant, 133 W. Court St.

Chelisa Kearns, 465 Leslie Trace Road, told police officers that sometime between 4:30 p.m. Tuesday and 5:40 a.m. Wednesday someone forced open the restaurant's front door and made off with $120.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department is investigating a stolen mailbox report.

Lewis C. Storts, 3169 Barrett Road, told sheriff's deputies that between 7 and 10 p.m. Tuesday someone removed his mailbox from a wooden post.

Clear skies over Ohio early today allowed temperatures to drop to near 10 degrees or below in the north and to the teens in the south.

The coldest reported overnight temperature was 1 degree at both Columbus and Zanesville. Clouds spread into the state during the night and temperatures began rising with most stations in the teens and lower 20s by 5 a.m.

A brisk south to southwest flow will bring in milder air with highs in the 30s this afternoon. After sunset, skies will again become partly cloudy and temperatures will drop into the 20s overnight, near normal for this time of year but mild compared to the past few days.
